Federal Jury Convicts 20 Apalachin Gang Delegates

Judge Praises Verdict, Blow To Underworld

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty Apalachin delegates were convicted Friday of a conspiracy of silence to cloak the real purpose behind their underworld convention two years ago. The judge lauded the jury's verdict as a service to the nation.

The Justice Department attributed the conviction to teamwork by law enforcement officials from all over the nation and a spokesman hailed the coordinated effort as evidence that "syndicated crime may soon have its death knell."

The defendants themselves were not big names. But the government said they represented some of the kingpins of the underworld. May Provide Leverage

The convictions may provide the federal government with a new lever to pry from the defendants the purpose of the mystery meeting Nov. 14, 1957, at the upstate New York home of the late Joseph Barbara Sr. The government attributed sinister motives to the gathering. The defense said it was purely social.

The 20 are liable to prison sentences of up to five years and fines up to $10,000 each. The severity of a sentence often depends on the degree of cooperation a guilty man shows toward the government.

The various Apalachin delegates, however, have given ample indication in the past that they prefer prison to the possibility of gangland vengeance should they talk. None of them took the stand during the federal conspiracy trial.

Federal Dist. Judge Irving R. Kaufman continued the 20 free on bonds ranging from $10,000 to $100,000 pending sentence Jan. 14.

Kaufman praised New York state police Sgt. Edgar Crosswell, who led a raiding party that broke up the Apalachin gathering and made public the names of the delegates.

Result Is Landmark

In Washington, Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said: "The result of this case is a landmark in the government's fight against organized crime and racketeers."

The defendants came from six states for the Oct. 26 opening of the conspiracy trial. The jury got the case in midafternoon Thursday.

The 20 were among 63 hoodlums and their firends known to have gathered at Barbara's hilltop home in Apalachin. State troopers broke up the gathering.

The Apalachin delegates said they happened to be together at the time because Barbara was sick and they dropped by to pay their respects. The host died last June 17.

Investigators, however, believe the convention was called to carve up gangland territories and rackets.

Cuba Sentences Ill American To 13 Years

HAVANA (AP) — An ailing American businessman was sentenced by a Castro military court Friday to 13 years in prison as an alleged underground link between anti-Castro people in Cuba and Florida.

And Prime Minister Fidel Castro himself threatened a jailed Miami newspaper reporter with prison or expulsion for allegedly meddling in the Castro revolution.

The businessman is John V. Martino, 49, of Miami Beach, Fla., and New York, who has been under prison hospital treatment for a kidney stone condition while awaiting trial.

The reporter is James Buchanan, 43, of the Miami Herald, accused of involvement in the escape of an anti-Castro soldier-of-fortune from Miami who is serving a long prison term.

Martino was convicted of trying to smuggle foes of the revolutionary regime out of Cuba and carrying a bond of the White Rose Society, an anti-Castro group operating in the United States.

Mrs. Sofia Cisneros, a police undercover agent, testified at his trial in Havana's La Cabana Fortress that Martino had come to Havana to spirit out the wife of an ex-henchman of ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista. She identified the alleged Batista man as former Col. Esteban Ventura.

Martino denied all the charges. He testified that he came to Havana last July to try to market a pocket telephone. He is affiliated with the Neptune Electronics Co. of Long Island City, N.Y.

Martino is the third American to draw a long prison term in the past month.

Castro's courts sentenced Peter John Lambton of Nassau, the Bahamas, to 25 years and Frank Austin Young to 30 years.

Brewery Workers End Walkout

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — About 2,250 striking brewery workers ended a walkout Friday. This assured 4,000 pubs of their Christmas beer supplies. The strikers, seeking higher pay, decided to return to work to allow negotiations to start Saturday.

Clues Remain Thin In Touhy Slaying

CHICAGO (AP) — Policemen—the kind of people Roger Touhy sneered at throughout his life—painstakingly plodded through a maze of information Friday, trying to rack down his killers.

Some of the material was fact, much of it rumor.

The clues were thin—a piece of glass that may yield fingerprints, and some king-size shotgun slugs of riot-gun caliber that cut down the Prohibition Era gang chief and wounded a friend Wednesday night.

While the body of Touhy was buried almost secretly in the family plot during the night, his wounded friend, Walter Miller, a 62-year-old retired police sergeant, was gaining strength in a hospital. His name was shifted from the critical to the serious list.

Touhy's body, his legs drilled away by shotgun bursts, was placed in the family plot near the graves of his policeman father, his mother, a victim of a fire in her early years; and four of his six brothers.

Of his 61 years, Roger Touhy spent nearly 26 in prison for the kidnapping of John (Jake the Barber) Factor in 1933. Touhy was released from prison Nov. 24.

Factor, a onetime confidence man, now dealing in real estate in Beverly Hills, Calif., underwent a lie detector test and was cleared of any knowledge of the Touhy assassination.

He came to Chicago on business, he said, the day before the killing. After the gunplay, Factor was supplied with a police bodyguard. Police Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor said the men were not exclusively bodyguards. "Maybe they just want to keep an eye on him," he said.

Police examined a piece of glass removed from a basement window in a building across the street from the dwelling where Touhy and Miller were ambushed as they mounted the steps.

Neighbors said the window was in a room where they believe the killers, or their accomplices, maintained a vigil for the right moment to do away with Touhy. A pile of cigarette butts indicated their wait was a long one.

Detectives also sought to trace the source of the shotgun shells used in the assassination. They contained eight balls each — and each ball measured a third of an inch in diameter. Sporting goods dealers said such ammunition is outlawed for game in Illinois. Its buyers are usually police agencies using riot guns.

Khrushchev Keeps Word

Lithuanian Children To Be Home For Christmas

EDITOR'S NOTE: United Press International staffer Joyce Schuller was the first person to tell Mr. and Mrs. Paulius Leonas of Chicago Friday that the Soviet government was sending their children to them after 15 years' separation. The following is Miss Schuller's report.

By JOYCE SCHULLER

CHICAGO (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev kept a promise Friday and let the Lithuanian son and daughter of a Chicago couple go home for Christmas.

Khrushchev made the promise in the lobby of a Des Moines, Iowa, hotel last Sept. 23 during his tour of the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Paulius Leonas, who had fled the Communist invasion of Lithuania 15 years ago, broke through the security agents told. "The visas were granted to day." Then Mrs. Leonas began making a tearful plea that their daughter, Ginas, 20, and their son, Tomas, 17, be returned to them.

Khrushchev patted Mrs. Leonas' hand and told Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko "see to it."

Friday, Gromyko saw to it. The U.S. Embassy in Moscow announced that exit visas had been granted the Leonas children.

When the news came from Moscow, Paulius Leonas, 42, and his wife, Elena, 42, were out buying a Christmas tree and presents. This reporter was sitting in the office of their prosperous real estate firm when they returned, laden with bundles.

Leonas asked "Do you have time for Christmas, they weren't really worried about it."

Czech Consul Accused In Poison Plot

U.S. Says Official Planned Harm To Radio Employees

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — A Czechoslovak consular official was accused Friday by the U.S. Army in Europe of masterminding an attempted mass poisoning of Radio Free Europe employees.

The official was identified as Jaroslav Nemec, vice consul of the Czechoslovak consulate general at Salzburg, Austria.

The Army said counterintelligence investigation disclosed that on Nov. 16 Nemec gave a "Communist agent salt shakers containing atrophine for placement in the RFE cafeteria." The agent, who also was working for RFE, tipped off American authorities.

In Vienna, the Czechoslovak legation called the Army charge a "gross provocation."

The Austrian government said Nemec has no diplomatic status. Nemec himself was unavailable to reporters.

Agent Was Told

The Army said in an official statement that the "agent was told the shakers contained a mild laxative." But clinical analysis showed they contained "atrophine in sufficient quantity to cause serious illness, the degree of which would depend upon the age and physical condition of the individual and the amount consumed."

A reliable source said the salt shakers at the cafeteria, frequented by 1,200 employees and their families, each contained 70 grams of salt. The atrophine in it amounted to 2.36 per cent in weight, or 1.6 grams.

A medical expert in Munich said this amount was enough to kill 16 persons. He said 0.1 grams would cause certain death. But normally an individual at one shaking would take considerably less than the quantity required to kill.

Announces Plot

Authorities refused to say how many shakers held the poison, derived from the deadly nightshade plant and used in minute doses against certain illnesses.

Erik Hazelhoff, RFE European director from Mount Kisco, N.Y., first announced the plot against the privately financed, American-run radio station, which beams its propaganda programs to almost every Iron Curtain country. It does not broadcast to the Soviet Union.

Hazelhoff said Wednesday the discovery was made Nov. 21 and the cafeteria was closed at once. It reopened Thursday. Many RFE employees are refugees from Iron Curtain countries, but there also are American and German employees.

MOSCOW (AP) — At the urging of relatives, the Marchenkos of Magnitogorsk took their 3-month-old daughter Vona to be baptized in a church. She died in the baptismal font. The priest conducting the rite was tried and despite his pleas of innocent, was sentenced to three years imprisonment.

"The people of Magnitogorsk are very satisfied with the decision," the newspaper Soviet Russia reported Friday.

Chou Asks New Talks On India

Nehru Appears In No Hurry To Accept Bid

TOKYO (AP) — Premier Chou En-lai of Red China has offered anew to sit down with Prime Minister Nehru of India for talks aimed at settling their troublesome border dispute. First unofficial reaction from New Delhi was that Nehru would be in no hurry to accept.

In his latest note on the subject, dated Thursday and made public Friday by Peiping radio, Chou proposed opening the talks Dec. 26 in China or in Burma.

"If you wish to suggest any other date," he added, "I am also willing to give it consideration." The letter complained that India has shown an unreasonable attitude in the border dispute, but in general the note's tone seemed mild.

Still Backward

Chou commented that India and China are "still very backward economically and culturally" and thus "urgently need to engross ourselves in long-term peaceful construction at home so as to free ourselves step by step from the present state of backwardness. We have no need to create tension between our two friendly nations or between us and any other country, thus dissipating and diverting our people's attention from domestic matters."

Informed quarters in New Delhi expressed doubt Nehru would agree to talks now, since there has been no background preparation. In response to any earlier Chou bid, Nehru contended careful groundwork should be laid before any Indian-Chinese summit meeting.

Withdraw Soldiers

In his new letter, Chou called on Nehru to withdraw his soldiers from 10 points along the common frontier, and renewed suggestions of a 12-mile pullback by border forces of both nations. The latter step, Chou declared, would effect "a favorable atmosphere of mutual confidence between the two countries."

Sounding an optimistic note, Chou disclosed that Chinese forces stationed along the border had suspended active patrolling up to the frontier.

Former Ace Kills Himself

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A former ace fighter pilot during World War II committed suicide here after clipping a $5 bill onto a farewell note to his family which said, "Take this and get a Christmas tree."

The body of 38-year-old Harry Louis Bailey was discovered by his wife early Friday in his automobile, which was parked in his paint shop.

Coroner Chester A. Williams ruled the death as suicide from carbon monoxide asphyxiation.

Bailey's business partner, Louis Lee Bardach, said Bailey spent most of Thursday worrying about his business affairs, and that Bailey told him: "I think I'll commit suicide."

His wife, expecting a fourth child, discovered the body sitting in the family car. Bailey had connected the exhaust pipe to a rubber hose, and inserted the hose into the back window of the car.

Steel Union Imposes New, Stiffer Terms

CHICAGO (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union laid down stiffer terms for settlement with the steel industry Friday and said it will go to court, if necessary, to try to shift bargaining from an industrywide to an individual company basis.

A new 10-point union proposal was outlined at a news conference by USW President David J. McDonald and Arthur J. Goldberg, the union's general counsel.

The new plan follows generally the terms negotiated with Kaiser Steel Corp. — but also includes terms not obtained from Kaiser.

These are principally an extension of health insurance to retired employees and their wives, and a full cost-of-living increase, effective for the first payroll period in January, on which Kaiser was allowed concessions.

McDonald said the union also reiterated a retroactive application of pension and health insurance features to Nov. 1 this year which was turned down earlier by the industry bargaining committee.

McDonald declined an estimate of the cost of the newly revised union demands, but said it would be slightly higher than that of the Kaiser settlement.

"Remember, Kaiser's benefits package went into effect five weeks ago," McDonald told reporters. "The other companies have been operating under the old terms."

McDonald said he has repeated a demand made upon the steel companies by letter Dec. 10 for bargaining talks on a company-wide basis. He said the union has received no answer to the letter mailed eight days ago.

He said the union's executive committee will decide what further action to take on the company-wide bargaining demand after a session with the industry negotiating committee called for Monday in Washington by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

40-Pound Tom Turkey Presented To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 40-pound broad breasted bronze turkey named "Mr. St. Mary's County III" and wearing a red, white and blue hat was presented to the white house Friday for the Christmas dinner of President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Conference To Climax Long Tour

President Warmly Greets De Gaulle, Rests At Embassy

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower came to Paris Friday night with a double-barrel objective — to shore up the West for its 1960 summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and to clear up the French role in NATO.

Eisenhower warmly greeted President Charles de Gaulle and then went immediately to the U. S. Embassy residence to rest until the Western summit conferences begin Saturday.

The talks here, the climax of Eisenhower's three-continent tour, are an important prelude to the East-West summit session expected to come in the spring. After Paris there will be anticlimax visits in Spain and Morocco before the President returns to Washington.

Responsible authorities in Paris reported Friday night that the President is ready to tell De Gaulle the United States insists on an integrated command of NATO defense forces.

De Gaulle opposes the unified command concept.

The two meet Saturday morning after they join British Prime Minister Macmillan and West German Chancellor Adenauer in a four - power Western summit meeting.

In sharp contrast to the Eisenhower receptions elsewhere on his tour, there was no thundering welcome in Paris—none had been planned.

The President came by train from Toulon. The arrival area around the Lyon station was cleared for security reasons. Only a few scattered cheers went up from members of the official welcoming party and newsmen.

Eisenhower flashed a smile and doffed his black Homburg as he stepped from the train and grasped De Gaulle's hand.

They chatted animatedly for a few moments. Eisenhower then drove off with members of his party. De Gaulle left in another automobile.

Eisenhower had been briefed on latest world and Western Alliance developments on the nine-hour trip from Toulon. These include frictions between France and the other North Atlantic Treaty nations.

The welcome in Toulon also was restrained.

In brisk and windy 55-degree weather, many Frenchmen stayed indoors to watch the arrival there on television.

The President looked rested and fit after a three-day Mediterranean cruise from Athens and Tunis.

Pepper Prices To Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Housewives will soon start paying a few pennies more for those little two-ounce cans of pepper.

And partly because some Singapore merchants decided last year they'd try to turn a few fast millions in the world pepper market. North African and Soviet bloc nations, especially, have stepped up their pepper consumption lately.

Moreover, a Singapore syndicate, Wan Tong Trading Co., gave the pepper price a big push upward by some clever trading maneuvers. U. S. dealers report.

The syndicate in 1958 discovered that pepper, in oversupply for three years, would soon become scarce because Indonesian farmers were reducing their crops due to low prices.

So Wan Tong secretly began buying up large stocks of pepper. The syndicate's plans worked perfectly. By the time other dealers realized supplies were becoming short, they had sold most of their stocks and Wan Tong controlled a sizeable share of the available pepper—perhaps even a corner on the world supply.

The syndicate has reaped a tidy profit. Business Week Magazine, in reporting the coup, estimates Wan Tong's total take at four million dollars so far.

Informed quarters in New Delhi expressed doubt Nehru would agree to talks now, since there has been no background preparation. In response to an earlier Chou bid, Nehru contended careful groundwork should be laid before any Indian-Chinese summit meeting.

Withdraw Soldiers

In his new letter, Chou called on Nehru to withdraw his soldiers from 10 points along the common frontier, and renewed suggestions of a 12-mile pullback by border forces of both nations. The latter step, Chou declared, would effect "a favorable atmosphere of mutual confidence between the two countries."

Sounding an optimistic note, Chou disclosed that Chinese forces stationed along the border had suspended active patrolling up to the frontier.

Former Ace Kills Himself

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI) — A former ace fighter pilot during World War II committed suicide here after clipping a $5 bill onto a farewell note to his family which said, "Take this and get a Christmas tree."

The body of 38-year-old Harry Louis Bailey was discovered by his wife early Friday in his automobile, which was parked in his paint shop.

Coroner Chester A. Williams ruled the death as suicide from carbon monoxide asphyxiation.

Bailey's business partner, Louis Leis Bardach, said Bailey spent most of Thursday worrying about his business affairs, and that Bailey told him: "I think I'll commit suicide."

His wife, expecting a fourth child, discovered the body sitting in the family car. Bailey had connected the exhaust pipe to a rubber hose, and inserted the hose into the back window of the car.

Steel Union Imposes New, Stiffer Terms

CHICAGO (AP) — The United Steelworkers Union laid down stiffer terms for settlement with the steel industry Friday and said it will go to court, if necessary, to try to shift bargaining from an industrywide to an individual company basis.

A new 10-point union proposal was outlined at a news conference by USW President David J. McDonald and Arthur J. Goldberg, the union's general counsel.

The new plan follows generally the terms negotiated with Kaiser Steel Corp. — but also includes terms not obtained from Kaiser.

These are principally an extension of health insurance to retired employees and their wives, and a full cost-of-living increase, effective for the first payroll period in January, on which Kaiser was allowed concessions.

McDonald said the union also reiterated a retroactive application of pension and health insurance features to Nov. 1 this year which was turned down earlier by the industry bargaining committee.

McDonald declined an estimate of the cost of the newly revised union demands, but said it would be slightly higher than that of the Kaiser settlement.

"Remember, Kaiser's benefits package went into effect five weeks ago," McDonald told reporters. "The other companies have been operating under the old terms."

McDonald said he has repeated a demand made upon the steel companies by letter Dec. 10 for bargaining talks on a company-wide basis. He said the union has received no answer to the letter mailed eight days ago.

He said the union's executive committee will decide what further action to take on the company-wide bargaining demand after a session with the industry negotiating committee called for Monday in Washington by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

40-Pound Turkey Presented To White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 40-pound broad breasted bronze turkey named "Mr. St. Mary's County III" and wearing a red, white and blue hat was presented to the white house Friday for the Christmas dinner of President and Mrs. Eisenhower.

Chairman Arthur Briscoe and Bill Chapman of the St. Mary's County Development Committee presented the live bird, along with a gallon of oysters to Homer Gruenther, a White House aide.

The turkey is from the Thompson farm at Great Mills, Md.

Gyani To Take Command Of Force

GAZA, Gaza Strip (AP) — Maj. Gen. P. S. Gyani of India arrived Friday to take over command of the seven-nation United Nations Emergency Force. He was accompanied by his predecessor, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns of Canada, who resigned Dec. 4 after being appointed his country's chief disarmament delegate.

Conference To Climax Long Tour

President Warmly Greets De Gaulle, Rests At Embassy

PARIS (AP) — President Eisenhower came to Paris Friday night with a double-barrel objective—to shore up the West for its 1960 summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and to clear up the French role in NATO.

Eisenhower warmly greeted President Charles de Gaulle and then went immediately to the U. S. Embassy residence to rest until the Western summit conferences begin Saturday.

The talks here, the climax of Eisenhower's three-continent tour, are an important prelude to the East-West summit session expected to come in the spring. After Paris there will be anticlimax visits in Spain and Morocco before the President returns to Washington.

Ready To Tell
Responsible authorities in Paris reported Friday night that the President is ready to tell De Gaulle the United States insists on an integrated command of NATO defense forces.

De Gaulle opposes the unified command concept.

The two meet Saturday morning after they join British Prime Minister Macmillan and West German Chancellor Adenauer in a four - power Western summit meeting.

In sharp contrast to the Eisenhower receptions elsewhere on his tour, there was no thundering welcome in Paris—none had been planned.

The President came by train from Toulon. The arrival area around the Lyon station was cleared for security reasons. Only a few scattered cheers went up from members of the official welcoming party and newsmen.

Eisenhower flashed a smile and doffed his black Homburg as he stepped from the train and grasped De Gaulle's hand.

Chat Animatedly
They chatted animatedly for a few moments. Eisenhower then drove off with members of his party. De Gaulle left in another automobile.

Eisenhower had been briefed on latest world and Western Alliance developments on the nine-hour trip from Toulon. These include frictions between France and the other North Atlantic Treaty nations.

The welcome in Toulon also was restrained.

In brisk and windy 55-degree weather, many Frenchmen stayed indoors to watch the arrival there on television.

The President looked rested and fit after a three-day Mediterranean cruise from Athens and Tunis.

Pepper Prices To Increase

NEW YORK (AP) — Housewives will soon start paying a few pennies more for those little two-ounce cans of pepper.

And partly because some Singapore merchants decided last year they'd try to turn a few fast millions in the world pepper market. North African and Soviet bloc nations, especially, have stepped up their pepper consumption lately.

Moreover, a Singapore syndicate, Wan Tong Trading Co., gave the pepper price a big push upward by some clever trading maneuvers, U. S. dealers report.

The syndicate in 1958 discovered that pepper, in oversupply for three years, would soon become scarce because Indonesian farmers were reducing their crops due to low prices.

So Wan, Tong secretly began buying up large stocks of pepper.

The syndicate's plans worked perfectly. By the time other dealers realized supplies were becoming short, they had sold most of their stocks and Wan Tong controlled a sizeable share of the available pepper—perhaps even a corner on the world supply.

The syndicate has reaped a tidy profit. Business Week Magazine, in reporting the coup, estimates Wan Tong's total take at four million dollars so far.

Special Eye Lenses Help Youngster, 5, See Again

CHICAGO (UPI)—Little Patty Shively, 5, looked and looked at her Christmas tree Friday. It was understandable. It was the first she had ever seen.

Patty went blind, shortly after birth.

"It's a wonderful thing," Patty's mother, Mrs. Georgann Shively, said. "It's something I've hoped for and prayed for and never believed possible. Patty can see again. It must be Christmas."

Patty's story, actually, is a case of science making up for its own error.

Patty, born prematurely, was placed in one of the last incubators to be operated without oxygen control. The excessive oxygen she received caused a film to form over her optic nerve fibers. The condition is called retrolental fibroplasia and it kills all measurable vision.

For her first year, Patty was totally blind. Then she began to distinguish light.

"You have to live with a child like this to understand," Mrs. Shively said. "Otherwise you never could realize what joy it is to hold up your baby to a window and see how happy she is."

Move To Build Fourth Power

PARIS (AP)—Authoritative diplomatic informants said Friday a move has been launched to make the Atlantic Alliance the world's fourth atomic power.

These informants said that Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO's supreme commander in Europe, got the ball rolling in a speech to the alliance's ministers here Wednesday.

Franz Josef Strauss, West German defense minister, was asked about Norstad's idea Friday said he thought it was "interesting."

But Strauss said discussion is premature now. "Come back and talk about it with me in two years," he said.

Norstad broached the subject in a little-noticed speech at Pasadena, Calif., on Dec. 6.

In that speech Norstad said: "It has been suggested that the control of atomic weapons might be passed to the alliance and that they might be committed to NATO so long as the alliance endures."

The NATO commander was reported to have gone into more detail at the alliance sessions.

One of the chief motives behind the project is to get around the reluctance of some European powers, particularly France, to allow the United States to stockpile nuclear warheads on her soil.

If it were NATO and not the United States which controlled the nuclear stockpiles, France might be more willing to take part in the NATO program to build up a nuclear deterrent in Europe.

Barbara's Trip Is Pleasing

PARIS (AP)—"The trip is everything I'd hoped for and more. I've used every mode of transportation—camel, ox, auto, jeep, helicopter, ship and airplane."

As she said it Barbara Eisenhower was using still another—the train bringing her to Paris with her husband, Maj. John Eisenhower and the latter's father, President Eisenhower, after visits to eight countries in Europe, Asia and Africa.

In Paris, Barbara said, she was looking forward to several things—a visit to a hairdresser, a try-out of her high school French, and a telephone conversation with her four children back in Gettysburg, Pa. She explained that she and her husband had not talked with the children since the trip started Dec. 3.

The President's 33-year-old daughter-in-law said she had felt fine all during the trip, which has carried her from wintry weather to the hot climate of Pakistan and India, and back into Europe's winter.

"I had a slight cold in New Delhi, but it was not serious—just noisy," she observed. "Otherwise, I have had no stomach trouble or illness."

Barbara said she had eaten everything put before her during the trip at luncheons and dinners.

Speaking of her trip in India, Barbara said: "I visited a second-grade school and the children sang 'We wish you a Merry Christmas.' That really struck me. I was momentarily homesick."

Barbara was interviewed by Elaine Shepard, correspondent of the North American Newspaper Alliance, in behalf of all the 85 journalists traveling with the President.

LONDON (UPI)—A British doctor Friday announced a new drug for "evening colic," an ailment which causes babies up to about three months of age to howl at night after feedings. Dr. R. S. Illingworth reported in the medical journal "Lancet" that the drug—dicyclomine hydrochloride—has been tested on 20 children with good results.

Retired Man Becomes 500th Md. Fatality

FULTON, Md. (AP)—Just a few days before the 25th. And, like most folks this time of year, Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Heine were getting ready for Christmas.

Only he won't see another Christmas. Instead, he became a statistic: No. 500.

Heine, 73-year-old retired salesman, was driving his wife from their home near Ashton to Laurel. She was going to buy some ice cream for a neighborhood home-makers' Christmas party Thursday night.

Despite overcast skies, the spirit of the season cheered their afternoon ride over roads off the beaten path in southern Howard County.

But at the intersection of Brown Bridge Road and Lime Kiln Road, fate stepped in.

The time was 2:52 p.m.

The Heines were driving north on Brown Bridge Road when a farm dump truck approached from the other direction. Just as their car got to Lime Kiln, the truck pulled over to make a left hand turn.

The vehicles smashed. The Heines were injured and an ambulance was called. The elderly man and his 64-year-old wife, Rilla Ilene, were taken to Montgomery County General Hospital near Olney.

Heine, suffering shock, a crushed lung and hemorrhage, held on until the morning hours. He died at 4:50 a.m. and became Maryland's 500th traffic fatality of the year.

His wife was treated for abrasions of the right leg and face and released Friday morning.

The truck was owned and driven by Joseph H. Thompson, 63, who farms near Fulton. State Police charged him with failure to grant the right-of-way and said manslaughter charges were pending.

On the same date last year, Maryland's traffic death toll was 478.

Meanwhile, Lt. Col. William H. Weber, executive officer of the State Police, said that 450 of the state's 551 troopers would be out patrolling during the Christmas and New Year's Day holidays.

As for the death toll to date, he remarked, "It certainly is something we're very much concerned about, and we're bending all our efforts to stem the flow of traffic deaths."

He pointed out 41 more cadets graduated from the State Police Academy Friday and will be qualified as troopers when they've finished another month of field training. In addition, the State Police Department is asking money for 40 more troopers in the next budget.

African Party Warns Belgium

LEOPOLDVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—A powerful African political leader declared Friday his party will not recognize Belgian authority in the Congo after the end of this year.

The warning from Joseph Kasavubu's Abako party came as King Baudouin of the Belgians began a two-week study tour in the Congo. The King arrived Thursday night in Stanleyville and was met with minor violence by demonstrators calling for independence. Police used tear gas to break up the demonstrations.

Belgium has promised something close to independence for this territory of 14 million as soon as intertribal strife ends. But that promise does not satisfy the Abako party, which was blamed for riots last January that left dozens of dead in Leopoldville.

The Abako party newspaper published the declaration that Belgian authority will not be recognized by the party after Dec. 31. Copies were seized by police but not before many had been distributed in Leopoldville, where Abako strength is centered.

Congo residents in all large cities are to vote Sunday for communal councils in what is designated as first step toward independence. Abako is boycotting the election.

Rocky Ends Tour, Remains Undecided

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ended a seven-state tour Friday night, still undecided whether to campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I am neither optimistic nor pessimistic," the New York governor told a news conference shortly after he arrived here from Houston on the last leg of a tour to check on popular sentiment toward his candidacy.

He would set no date for his decision, but said he would like to make up his mind before Jan. 5, when a New York State legislative session begins.

With a few exceptions, Rockefeller said, Republican officials have been friendly toward him. He declined to specify the exceptions.

Florida GOP leaders greeted him with cordiality, although sentiment among them is overwhelmingly in favor of Vice President Richard N. Nixon.

Rockefeller, who emphasized he would not consider a vice presidential nomination, said his trip had "contributed very much to a better understanding of the interests of the people and the structure and attitude of the party."

Florida Republican leaders said Rockefeller support in the state is poorly organized. However, some of his supporters showed up at the airport to greet him under the leadership of Dr. Thomas Carney, a Miami physician.

Rockefeller, who was to leave later for New York, said his trip winds up "all the fact-finding I'm going to do by traveling."

Tawes Receives Extradition Request

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. J. Millard Tawes Friday received a request from Pennsylvania authorities for the extradition of Charles C. Campbell, wanted in York County, Pa., on three abortion counts.

Tawes' office said Campbell's case would be heard at the next extradition hearings, scheduled for Jan. 14. A spokesman said Campbell's counsel, State Sen. James A. Pine (D-Baltimore County), has been in touch with the office.

Campbell, formerly of Hanover (Pa.) R.D. 2, is reportedly living in Boring, Md., Baltimore County.

Seek Safety Belts In State-Owned Cars

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland State police and the State Health Department sent a recommendation to Gov. Tawes Friday that all State-owned cars be equipped with safety seat belts.

The joint recommendation cited a study made by Cornell University that seat belts can decrease auto fatalities 25 per cent and injuries in highway accidents by more than 50 per cent.

The report said the seat belts would be installed only in cars of employees who promise to use them properly.

There was no immediate indication what the installation would cost.

Lone Gunman Robs Branch Bank

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—A hook-nose gunman held up a branch office of the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. Friday and escaped with $2,694 in bills.

Police said the man apparently escaped in a stolen automobile.

They broadcast a description of the robber as a hook-nose man about 30, from 5 feet 10 inches to 6 feet tall and weighing about 160 pounds. They said he was wearing a tan raincoat and hat.

John Bolster, executive vice president of the association, said the gunman entered the branch, forced two women to lie on the floor, then scooped the money from the cash drawers into a paper sack and fled.

Police said no shots were fired.

Small Reward For His Honesty

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Frank Disney, 46, a salesman, found a case containing $23,000 in cash and checks on a Melbourne street Friday. He returned it to the firm whose address was inside.

"I suppose honesty was the best policy," said Frank as he left the firm clutching a $450 reward.

Harris Gets Five Years For Conspiracy

BALTIMORE (AP)—Willie B. Harris, described by a government prosecutor as "one of Miami's worst hoodlums," was sentenced Friday to five years in prison and given a $10,000 fine on a counterfeit conspiracy charge.

Chief Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen found him innocent of passing a $100 bogus bill but convicted him of conspiring with two others to circulate the bad money. The judge handed down the maximum punishment.

His federal prison term will begin when Harris finishes his five-year term in Florida for receiving stolen goods.

"Berr bottle" Harris earned the unsavory nickname, police said, because of his vicious habit of slashing his enemies with a broken bottle. The 47-year-old hoodlum's police record goes back nearly 30 years.

He elected trial by Judge Thomsen last week at the same time co-defendants Lawrence J. Crouse, 35, also of Miami, and Nathaniel Smith, 39, of Bladensburg, Md., were tried before a jury.

Smith was acquitted and Crouse convicted. Crouse was returned to jail pending a possible move for a new trial. No bail was set when Asst. U.S. Atty. Martin A. Ferris protested that Crouse, if he returned to Miami, could easily skip the country.

As the prosecution unfolded the case, the defendants were charged with laying plans at Miami and at Smith's suburban Washington, D.C., restaurant to pass the counterfeit bills. The alleged conspiracy took place June 30-July 7, said the government.

Ex-Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing champion Leonard Kanthal, 29, testified he had received several bogus $100 bills from Smith. Kanthal said he agreed to cash them for $20 each.

Kanthal is serving 60 days to six years in a federal prison in Indiana for passing counterfeit money.

Ferris described Harris at the pre-sentence hearing as "one of Miami's worst hoodlums"—a thug with a bookfull of arrests and few convictions.

Two of his cutting victims refused to testify when the cases came to court. Harris was once charged with murder and picked out of a lineup. But when the case went before a magistrate, all witnesses had lost their memories.

Ferris said the convict had no visible means of support, had never filed an income tax return, and "makes his living in the underworld with connections in Chicago, New York and Miami."

Harris told the judge that police picked on him, that when he is associated with a night club, it closes the next day.

Man, 24, Held In Connection With Holdups

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police held a 24-year-old man for questioning Friday in connection with a series of holdups in Maryland, Washington and Portland, Me.

The man was arrested at gunpoint in downtown Baltimore earlier in the day and was identified by police as Louis A.J. McVicar. Police said they expected to file formal charges Saturday.

Authorities in Portland, Me., have issued two warrants charging McVicar with two armed robberies in that city.

He is also believed to be the man who disarmed a Laurel, Md., policeman last Saturday night after the officer stopped him for questioning about a series of holdups in the Laurel area.

Police said the man they identified as McVicar was nabbed after three holdups Thursday night and early Friday. They said he had $685 in cash and a .32 caliber nickel-plated revolver.

A lone gunman escaped with $328 from the Greyhound bus terminal, $98 at the Regent House Hotel and was foiled by a clerk at the Emerson Hotel when an employee stalled for time.

State Police said McVicar was believed to be the man who held up a Baltimore hotel last Saturday night and a Washington restaurant Sunday.

They said a man of the same description also forced a couple to drive him to Baltimore at gunpoint shortly after the Laurel policeman was disarmed.

Elected President

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dr. James R. Hay of Chicago was elected president of the Livestock Sanitary Assn. Friday.

The association will hold its next convention at Charles Town, W. Va., in October, 1960.

Hearing Date Set

ROME (UPI)—A court Friday set Jan. 29 as the date for final hearing of the long-drawn-out custody battle over the children of Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini. Attorneys for the estranged couple accepted the date and agreed to file closing briefs by Jan. 4. A decision is expected in February.

Friendly Gesture Results In Arrest

SALISBURY (AP)—A hospitable gesture by a Crisfield waterman Friday resulted in his arrest on a charge of violating the federal game law.

Bennett W. Sterling, 42, invited three strangers into his shack on East Creek in southeast Somerset County during a steady downpour.

The strangers turned out to be U.S. game management agents and arrested Sterling when, they said, they found two live ducks inside the shack.

At his arraignment in Salisbury, Sterling was ordered held in $500 bond by U.S. Commissioner John B. Robins on charges of taking migratory birds with a trap and possession of migratory birds without a permit.

Dies Of Burns In Home Accident

Police said Thomas apparently knocked over a wood stove and was burned in the ensuing blaze, which slightly damaged the home.

Short Freedom For Check Passer

SALISBURY (AP)—Last year at this time Horace R. Parker was sentenced to 12 months in the House of Correction on a charge of passing a bogus 48 dollar check.

Friday, after only a few days of freedom, Parker was sent back to the House of Correction for six more months — this time on a charge of passing a 43 dollar worthless check.

Herter presumably briefed him on the NATO conferences and reported on French reaction to Eisenhower's joint declaration with Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba of grave concern over the Algerian war—a war which France considers is her own concern.

Bargain Dog Watches Birds, Doesn't Hunt

SUNDSVALL, Sweden (UPI)—Farmer Erik Hult thought he was getting a bargain when he bought Plucky, a 6-year-old Spitz renowned as a champion elk tracker.

Hult took the dog to the country to live, but the Spitz promptly forgot all about deer tracks and took to bird-watching.

Hult sued to get back his old dog and the $170 he gave in exchange for Plucky.

A judge ruled Plucky was suffering from "emotional disturbance" brought on by "failure to adapt himself to new surroundings" and said the deal could not be revoked.

Burke Says Europe Naval Defenses Strong

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Naval defenses of Western Europe have grown stronger during the past few years "but we all have a long way still to go," Adm. Arleigh Burke said Friday.

Burke, chief of Naval Operations, said he doesn't know a thing—except what he read in newspapers—about France's opposition to extending NATO command over its forces.

Burke returned Friday from a week's visit to Germany and Britain. He stayed away from Paris, where NATO discussions have been held.

He said he favors West Germany's plea for an increase in its naval tonnage limit, so that it can construct bigger warcraft, including submarines.

The admiral, who spent most of his time in Europe inspecting German ships and naval headquarters, has special praise for the new naval officers corps.

He also said he found excellent cooperation between the German and Scandinavian navies, which in the event of war would be expected to work together in anti-submarine and antine operations in the North Sea and its approaches.

"There certainly wasn't anything like this a few years back," Burke said.

He is also believed to be the man who disarmed a Laurel, Md., policeman last Saturday night after the officer stopped him for questioning about a series of holdups in the Laurel area.

Police said the man they identified as McVicar was nabbed after three holdups Thursday night and early Friday. They said he had $685 in cash and a .32 caliber nickel-plated revolver.

A lone gunman escaped with $328 from the Greyhound bus terminal, $98 at the Regent House Hotel and was foiled by a clerk at the Emerson Hotel when an employee stalled for time.

State Police said McVicar was believed to be the man who held up a Baltimore hotel last Saturday night and a Washington restaurant Sunday.

They said a man of the same description also forced a couple to drive him to Baltimore at gunpoint shortly after the Laurel policeman was disarmed.

Accuses Government

MOSCOW (UPI)—The official party newspaper Pravda has accused the Laotian government of "lawless actions terrorizing the population." "Peaceful people no longer can put up with this rule of the club and leave their homes to join guerrilla movements," the paper charged.

GENEVA (UPI)—Bats were responsible for three of the 11 fatal cases of rabies—a usually dog-borne disease—in the United States over the past two years, according to the World Health Organization.

'Pet' Bear Faces Death Or Adoption

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Little Boo Boo has been sentenced to die because Milwaukee Humane society officials say he's not prepared to cope with life among other bears, and few people are qualified to adopt him.

The 8-month-old, 50-pound black bear sits forlornly in a death row cell at the humane society, where he was left by a Watersmeet, Mich., man who said he had raised Boo-Boo. The man gave no reason for parting with the animal.

Officials say a bear raised in captivity as a pet could not survive in the woods, and the number of persons who might adopt the little fellow is limited to holders of game raiser's permits.

The Humane Society is hoping someone will adopt Boo-Boo, but it will have to be a quick response, for the execution is scheduled "soon."

Nuclear Reactor Under Operation

WORCESTER, Mass. (UPI)—The first nuclear training reactor in the nation went into operation after 24 hours of elaborate checking at 1:20 p.m. Friday.

The first sustained nuclear reaction in the swimming pool reactor was announced by Dr. Bernard Hildebrand of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute Physics Department, where the atomic energy commission helped set it up.

The reactor will be used in training undergraduates in its operation.

Special Eye Lenses Help Youngster, 5, See Again

CHICAGO (UPI)—Little Patty Shively, 5, looked and looked at her Christmas tree Friday. It was understandable. It was the first she had ever seen.

Patty went blind, shortly after birth. "It's a wonderful thing," Patty's mother, Mrs. Georgann Shively, said. "It's something I've hoped for and prayed for and never believed possible. Patty can see again. It must be Christmas."

Patty's story, actually, is a case of science making up for its own error. Patty, born prematurely, was placed in one of the last incubators to be operated without oxygen control. The excessive oxygen she received caused a film to form over her optic nerve fibers. The condition is called retrolental fibroplasia and it kills all measurable vision.

For her first year, Patty was totally blind. Then she began to distinguish light.

"You have to live with a child like this to understand," Mrs. Shively said. "Otherwise you never could realize what joy it is to hold up your baby to a window and see how happy she is."

Move To Build Fourth Power

PARIS (AP)—Authoritative diplomatic informants said Friday a move has been launched to make the Atlantic Alliance the world's fourth atomic power.

These informants said that Gen. Lauris Norstad, NATO's supreme commander in Europe, got the ball rolling in a speech to the alliance's ministers here Wednesday.

Franz Josef Strauss, West German defense minister, was asked about Norstad's idea Friday said he thought it was "interesting."

But Strauss said discussion is premature now. "Come back and talk about it with me in two years," he said. Norstad broached the subject in a little-noticed speech at Pasadena, Calif., on Dec. 6.

In that speech Norstad said: "It has been suggested that the control of atomic weapons might be passed to the alliance and that they might be committed to NATO so long as the alliance endures."

The NATO commander was reported to have gone into more detail at the alliance sessions. One of the chief motives behind the project is to get around the reluctance of some European powers, particularly France, to allow the United States to stockpile nuclear warheads on her soil.

If it were NATO and not the United States which controlled the nuclear stockpiles, France might be more willing to take part in the NATO program to build up a nuclear deterrent in Europe.

Discovers Medicine To Ease 'Colic'

LONDON (UPI)—A British doctor Friday announced a new drug for "evening colic," an ailment which causes babies up to about three months of age to howl at night after feedings. Dr. R. S. Illingworth reported in the medical journal "Lancet" that the drug—dicyclanone hydrochloride—has been tested on 20 children with good results.

The rivers of the Ecuador Andean highland region are torrential streams and flow both to the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

Retired Man Becomes 500th Md. Fatality

FULTON, Md. (AP)—Just a few days before the 25th. And, like most folks this time of year, Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Heine were getting ready for Christmas.

Only he won't see another Christmas. Instead, he became a statistic: No. 500.

Heine, 73-year-old retired salesman, was driving his wife from their home near Ashton to Laurel. She was going to buy some ice cream for a neighborhood housewives' Christmas party Thursday night.

Despite overcast skies, the spirit of the season cheered their afternoon ride over roads off the beaten path in southern Howard County.

But at the intersection of Brown Bridge Road and Lime Kiln Road, fate stepped in.

The time was 2:32 p.m. The Heines were driving north on Brown Bridge Road when a farm dump truck approached from the other direction. Just as their car got to Lime Kiln, the truck pulled over to make a left hand turn.

The vehicles smashed. The Heines were injured and an ambulance was called. The elderly man and his 64-year-old wife, Rilla Heine, were taken to Montgomery County General Hospital near Olney.

Heine, suffering shock, a crushed lung and hemorrhage, held on until the morning hours. He died at 4:50 a.m. and became Maryland's 500th traffic fatality of the year.

His wife was treated for abrasions of the right leg and face and released Friday morning.

The truck was owned and driven by Joseph H. Thompson, 63, who farms near Fulton. State Police charged him with failure to grant the right-of-way and said manslaughter charges were pending.

On the same date last year, Maryland's traffic death toll was 478.

Meanwhile, Lt. Col. William H. Weber, executive officer of the State Police, said that 450 of the state's 551 troopers would be out patrolling during the Christmas and New Year's Day holidays.

As for the death toll to date, he remarked, "It certainly is something we're very much concerned about, and we're bending all our efforts to stem the flow of traffic deaths."

He pointed out 41 more cadets graduated from the State Police Academy Friday and will be qualified as troopers when they've finished another month of field training. In addition, the State Police Department is asking money for 40 more troopers in the next budget.

Tawes Receives Extradition Request

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. J. Millard Tawes Friday received a request from Pennsylvania authorities for the extradition of Charles C. Campbell, wanted in York County, Pa., on three abortion counts.

Tawes' office said Campbell's case would be heard at the next extradition hearings, scheduled for Jan. 14. A spokesman said Campbell's counsel, State Sen. James A. Pine (D-Baltimore County), has been in touch with the office.

Campbell, formerly of Hanover (Pa.) R.D. 2, is reportedly living in Boring, Md., Baltimore County.

Seek Safety Belts In State-Owned Cars

BALTIMORE (AP)—Maryland State Police and the State Health Department sent a recommendation to Gov. Tawes Friday that all State-owned cars be equipped with safety seat belts.

The joint recommendation cited a study made by Cornell University that seat belts can decrease auto fatalities 25 per cent and injuries in highway accidents by more than 50 per cent.

The report said the seat belts would be installed only in cars of employees who promise to use them properly.

There was no immediate indication what the installation would cost.

Rocky Ends Tour, Remains Undecided

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller ended a seven state tour Friday night, still undecided whether to campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

"I am neither optimistic nor pessimistic," the New York governor told a news conference shortly after he arrived here from Houston on the last leg of a tour to check on popular sentiment toward his candidacy.

He would set no date for his decision, but said he would like to make up his mind before Jan. 5, when a New York State legislative session begins.

With a few exceptions, Rockefeller said, Republican officials have been friendly toward him. He declined to specify the exceptions.

Florida GOP leaders greeted him with cordiality, although sentiment among them is overwhelmingly in favor of Vice President Richard N. Nixon.

Rockefeller, who emphasized he would not consider a vice presidential nomination, said his trip had "contributed very much to a better understanding of the interests of the people and the structure and attitude of the party."

Florida Republican leaders say Rockefeller support in the state is poorly organized. However, some of his supporters showed up at the airport to greet him under the leadership of Dr. Thomas Carney, a Miami physician.

Rockefeller, who was to leave later for New York, said his trip winds up "all the fact-finding I'm going to do by traveling."

Drunk Driving Law Challenged In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—The validity of a State law permitting the use of a mechanical test as evidence in drunk driving cases was challenged Friday in Baltimore Traffic Court.

Louis H. Davidson, attorney for James A. Baldwin, 26-year-old Negro, told Magistrate William Hudnut he objected to the use of a breath analysis machine by police to determine if his client was drunk.

He said it was immaterial that Baldwin had agreed to the test.

Police said the test showed that Baldwin's blood contained 22 alcoholic content at the time of his arrest last Saturday. The magistrate was told that .15 is the maximum permissible level of alcoholic content in the blood.

Magistrate Hudnut gave Baldwin a suspended $100 fine, but ordered him to pay court costs plus a $10 fine on another charge of reckless driving.

Lone Gunman Robs Branch Bank

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP)—A hook-nose gunman held up a branch office of the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. Friday and escaped with $2,694 in bills.

Police said the man apparently escaped in a stolen automobile. They broadcast a description of the robber as a hook-nose man about 30, from 5 feet 10 inches to 6 feet tall and weighing about 160 pounds. They said he was wearing a tan raincoat and hat.

John Bolster, executive vice president of the association, said the gunman entered the branch, forced two women to lie on the floor, then scooped the money from the cash drawers into a paper sack and fled.

Police said no shots were fired.

Small Reward For His Honesty

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Frank Disney, 46, a salesman, found a case containing $23,000 in cash and checks on a Melbourne street Friday. He returned it to the firm whose address was inside.

"I suppose honesty was the best policy," said Frank as he left the firm clutching a $40 reward.

Harris Gets Five Years For Conspiracy

BALTIMORE (AP)—Willie B. Harris, described by a government prosecutor as "one of Miami's worst hoodlums," was sentenced Friday to five years in prison and given a $10,000 fine on a counterfeit conspiracy charge.

Chief Federal Judge Roszel C. Thomsen found him innocent of passing a $100 bogus bill but convicted him of conspiring with two others to circulate the bad money. The judge handed down the maximum punishment.

His federal prison term will begin when Harris finishes his five-year term in Florida for receiving stolen goods.

"Berr bottle" Harris earned the unsavory nickname, police said, because of his vicious habit of slashing his enemies with a broken bottle. The 47-year-old hoodlum's police record goes back nearly 30 years.

He elected trial by Judge Thomsen last week at the same time co-defendants Lawrence J. Crouse, 35, also of Miami, and Nathaniel Smith, 39, of Bladensburg, Md., were tried before a jury.

Smith was acquitted and Crouse convicted. Crouse was returned to jail pending a possible move for a new trial. No bail was set when Asst. U.S. Atty. Martin A. Ferris protested that Crouse, if he returned to Miami, could easily skip the country.

As the prosecution unfolded the case, the defendants were charged with laying plans at Miami and at Smith's suburban Washington, D.C., restaurant to pass the counterfeit bills. The alleged conspiracy took place June 30-July 7, said the government.

Ex-Golden Gloves heavyweight boxing champion Leonard Kanthal, 29, testified he had received several bogus $100 bills from Smith. Kanthal said he agreed to cash them for $20 each.

Kanthal is serving 60 days to six years in a federal prison in Indiana for passing counterfeit money.

Ferris described Harris at the pre-sentence hearing as "one of Miami's worst hoodlums" — a thug with a bookfull of arrests and few convictions.

Two of his cutting victims refused to testify when the cases came to court. Harris was once charged with murder and picked out of a lineup. But when the case went before a magistrate, all witnesses had lost their memories, Ferris said.

Ferris said the convict had no visible means of support, had never filed an income tax return, and "makes his living in the underworld with connections in Chicago, New York and Miami."

Harris told the judge that police picked on him, that when he is associated with a night club, it closes the next day.

Friendly Gesture Results In Arrest

SALISBURY (AP)—A hospitable gesture by a Crisfield waterman Friday resulted in his arrest on a charge of violating the federal game law.

Bennett W. Sterling, 42, invited three strangers into his shack on East Creek in southeast Somerset County during a steady downpour. The strangers turned out to be U.S. game management agents and arrested Sterling when they said they found two live ducks inside the shack.

At his arraignment in Salisbury, Sterling was ordered held in $500 bond by U.S. Commissioner John B. Robins on charges of taking migratory birds with a trap and possession of migratory birds without a permit.

Dies Of Burns In Home Accident

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—Malachia Thomas, 44, Sandy Spring, died in Montgomery County Hospital Thursday of burns suffered in his home.

Police said Thomas apparently knocked over a wood stove and was burned in the ensuing blaze, which slightly damaged the home.

Short Freedom For Check Passer

SALISBURY (AP)—Last year at this time Horace R. Parker was sentenced to 12 months in the House of Correction on a charge of passing a bogus 48 dollar check. Friday, after only a few days of freedom, Parker was sent back to the House of Correction for six more months — this time on a charge of passing a 43 dollar worthless check.

Frenchmen cheered Eisenhower amiably, but not madly as he drove through the streets of Toulon to a glistening special train for the nine-hour trip to Paris.

As Eisenhower's deluxe train sped past France's rich vineyards he worked on world problems with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Herter presumably briefed him on the NATO conferences and reported on French reaction to Eisenhower's joint declaration with Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba of grave concern over the Algerian war—a war which France considers is her own concern.

Bargain Dog Watches Birds, Doesn't Hunt

SUNDSVALL, Sweden (UPI)—Farmer Erik Hult thought he was getting a bargain when he bought Plucky, a 6-year-old Spitz renowned as a champion elk tracker.

Hult took the dog to the country to live, but the Spitz promptly forgot all about deer tracks and took to bird-watching.

Hult sued to get back his old dog and the $170 he gave in exchange for Plucky.

A judge ruled Plucky was suffering from "emotional disturbances" brought on by "failure to adapt himself to new surroundings" and said the deal could not be revoked.

Man, 24, Held In Connection With Holdups

BALTIMORE (AP)—Police held a 24-year-old man for questioning Friday in connection with a series of holdups in Maryland, Washington and Portland, Me.

The man was arrested at gunpoint in downtown Baltimore earlier in the day and was identified by police as Louis A.J. McVicar. Police said they expected to file formal charges Saturday.

Authorities in Portland, Me., have issued two warrants charging McVicar with two armed robberies in that city.

He is also believed to be the man who disarmed a Laurel, Md., policeman last Saturday night after the officer stopped him for questioning about a series of holdups in the Laurel area.

Police said the man they identified as McVicar was nabbed after three holdups Thursday night and early Friday. They said he had $685 in cash and a 32 caliber nickel-plated revolver.

A lone gunman escaped with $328 from the Greyhound bus terminal, $98 at the Regent House Hotel and was foiled by a clerk at the Emerson Hotel when an employee stalled for time.

State Police said McVicar was believed to be the man who held up a Baltimore hotel last Saturday night and a Washington restaurant Sunday.

They said a man of the same description also forced a couple to drive him to Baltimore at gunpoint shortly after the Laurel policeman was disarmed.

Elected President

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dr. James R. Hay of Chicago was elected president of the Livestock Sanitary Assn. Friday.

The association will hold its next convention at Charles Town, W. Va., in October, 1960.

Hearing Date Set

ROME (UPI)—A court Friday set Jan. 29 as the date for final hearing of the long-drawn-out custody battle over the children of Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini. Attorneys for the estranged couple accepted the date and agreed to file closing briefs by Jan. 4. A decision is expected in February.

Burke Says Europe Naval Defenses Strong

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Naval defenses of Western Europe have grown stronger during the past few years "but we all have a long way still to go," Adm. Arleigh Burke said Friday.

Burke, chief of Naval Operations, said he doesn't know a thing—except what he read in newspapers—about France's opposition to extending NATO command over its forces.

Burke returned Friday from a week's visit to Germany and Britain. He stayed away from Paris, where NATO discussions have been held.

He said he favors West Germany's plea for an increase in its naval tonnage limit, so that it can construct bigger warcraft, including submarines.

The admiral, who spent most of his time in Europe inspecting German ships and naval headquarters, has special praise for the new naval officers corps.

He also said he found excellent cooperation between the German and Scandinavian navies, which in the event of war would be expected to work together in anti-submarine and antine operations in the North Sea and its approaches.

"There certainly wasn't anything like this a few years back," Burke said.

The Secret To Good Speaking

Adequate preparation is the secret of any successful public appearance. The next time it's your duty to speak to your group, use these handy guides to prepare your material. You'll gain in interest, impact and assurance.

1. Do not attempt to cover too much ground. Weed out the extraneous points and put more emphasis on the important ones.
2. Think over your chosen points again and again. When you can talk about them from every angle, you are sure to be self-confident.
3. When you have gathered all your thoughts, write them down on paper.
4. Now, memorize your points and the order in which you wish to present them. Do not memorize actual sentences or you will sound like a little girl hesitating over her piece at the church social.
5. Practice over and over to yourself or to anyone who will listen.

When the time comes for you to present what you have to say, you will have no uncertainty about your subject matter. You'll find that your timidity has reached an all-time low, because you can recall your thoughts so easily that they will trip fluently off of your tongue.

Your obvious command of your subject will command the attention and respect of your audience. As soon as you become aware of the impression you are making and the responsiveness of the group, you will begin to enjoy yourself. Then, you'll actually look forward to your next opportunity to speak.

Wise Men travelled a desert to lay their gifts before a King.

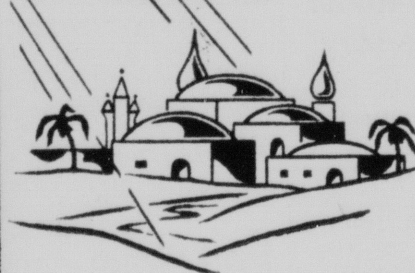

But the King was a mere babe. His court was a cattle shed; His princely garb swaddling bands.

Could they be certain when they knelt by the manger that this was the end of the quest?

Their certainty came not of proof but of faith. They had marveled at the heavens . . . followed a gleaming star . . . listened to prophecy. For Wise Men this was enough!

And through the centuries others have sought the King. Eagerly, earnestly they have come into the reverent beauty of the Church. And there, as ageless Words cast their light in man's darkness, they have known the end of their quest.

End of the Quest

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

End of the Quest

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	2	7-10
Monday	Matthew	2	11
Tuesday	John	1	15-17
Wednesday	John	1	27-28
Thursday	I Peter	1	22-25
Friday	Psalms	106	4-5
Saturday	Isaiah	32	1-4

Wise Men travelled a desert to lay their gifts before a King.

But the King was a mere babe. His court was a cattle shed; His princely garb swaddling bands.

Could they be certain when they knelt by the manger that this was the end of the quest?

Their certainty came not of proof but of faith. They had marveled at the heavens . . . followed a gleaming star . . . listened to prophecy. For Wise Men this was enough!

And through the centuries others have sought the King. Eagerly, earnestly they have come into the reverent beauty of the Church. And there, as ageless Words cast their light in man's darkness, they have known the end of their quest.

Unemployment Plagues W.Va. During '59

Editor's note: Following is the third of five dispatches reviewing the year in West Virginia. Today: Business and Industry.

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Continued unemployment in southern coal fields — first as a result of mechanization and then as a result of the steel strike — darkened a relatively bright business and industry picture in West Virginia during 1959.

In contrast with reports of brisk activity in most categories of West Virginia business was the fact that non-farm employment dropped from a high of 478,000 in January of last year to a low year of 452,000 in February of this year. Coal industry jobs dropped about 20,000 from a 1958 high of 72,100, despite predictions that tonnage would exceed last year's 115,000. Coupled with this picture of increased unemployment were reports that some 50,000 West Virginians were receiving Department of Public Assistance grants yield at better-than-1958 levels and about one out of every eight and one out of every eight and one persons in the state was receiving surplus food handouts.

Legislators In W.Va. Face Early Session

Governor May Issue Call

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Members of the West Virginia Legislature Friday faced a possible early call to work next year.

Gov. Cecil H. Underwood was reported considering calling the lawmakers into session the first week of January, some 10 days ahead of their scheduled opening Jan. 13 for the 30-day budget session.

If the call for a special session is issued it would contain consideration only of measures to ease the plight of the state's army of jobless workers.

In a state-wide radio-television address Tuesday, Underwood said he was calling attention to the situation then so members of the Legislature could have advance notice of one problem they would face next year.

He gave a detailed report of a 15 county tour which included major depressed areas, mostly in the southern coal fields.

The governor said something had to be done to help these unemployed workers. Among suggestions was one for a state public works program which would require legislative action. This might include highway construction and a state-park and forest improvement program.

Money would be necessary to finance such a program and this is where the Legislature would have to act. It'll have to find the cash. The governor might suggest the means.

Several of Underwood's close advisors have told him it would be best to let the Legislators wrestle with the unemployment problem without being bothered with normal business of the 30-day session.

Underwood is known to have one objection to this. He is not sure a week would be long enough to work on the unemployment problem. And he does not want to bring the legislators into session until after the holiday period.

Another suggestion being considered by the state's chief executive is to have the 30-day session extended if the unemployment problem has not been solved by the Feb. 12 deadline for the session.

The call for a session ahead of schedule probably would create very few problems. Most of the legislative machinery has been put in readiness by full-time personnel of the Legislature. It completes much of the work in advance of the holiday season each year and only a few odds and ends need to be cleared up during the first week of the new year.

It is expected that Underwood will include on the 30-day session agenda several suggestions for minor changes in state law. These would be mostly of a local nature, but are time-consuming just the same. It is because of this advisors believe extra time should be allowed for solving the economic problems.

Former Local Man Named President Of College

Rev. Robert H. Parker, native of Cumberland and Methodist superintendent of the Baltimore South District, will become president of Wesley Junior College in Dover, Del., July 1.

His election was announced jointly by Rev. Howell O. Wilkins of Wilmington, Del., chairman of the college Board of Trustees, and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of The Methodist Church's Washington Episcopal Area.

Rev. Mr. Parker will succeed President J. Paul Slaybaugh, who retires in June after 45 years as a teacher and school administrator. He has headed Wesley College since 1951.

Rev. Mr. Parker, 47, is a graduate of Allegheny High School, the American University, Washington, and Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J.

In 1953 he was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree by Western Maryland College, Westminster, for his distinguished ministerial career in the Baltimore Methodist Conference.

As superintendent of the Baltimore South District, Rev. Mr. Parker supervises the pastors of 65 churches. He was appointed to the post by Bishop Oxnam in June 1958.

Previously, Rev. Mr. Parker served 14 years as pastor of the suburban Northwood-Apollod church. Starting with a congregation of 100, he developed the church into Methodism's largest in Baltimore with 2,500 members.

Rev. Mr. Wilkins, pastor of Wilmington's Hillcrest Memorial Methodist Church, said the trustees voted unanimously for Rev. Mr. Parker following a report by the board's committee on the presidency. Rev. Dr. John Traders, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, Dover, is chairman of the committee.

"We are enthusiastic about the future of Wesley College and anticipate that Rev. Mr. Parker's leadership will continue the school in the direction of becoming one of the nation's outstanding junior institutions," Rev. Mr. Wilkins said.

The college is in the midst of a $4,000,000 development program which was initiated two years ago by Dr. Slaybaugh. A new classroom building, named for the president, and a women's dormitory have been completed, and

Federal Court To Hear Two Cases Here

U. S. District Court will be held at the Court House here starting February 1, 1960 with two cases on the docket, according to information received by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris of Circuit Court.

Judge Harris, in a letter to the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday, noted the federal court use of the facilities in February in making arrangements for temporary use of the probation officer's room by the Liquor Board secretary.

Judge Harris said that the county commissioners' request for temporary use of the probation officer's office could continue until the last week in January, but after that date the federal court staff would make use of the room during the period the court is in session here.

The Liquor Board secretary, Mrs. Esther Robinson, has to vacate the third floor office she has been using as this space is being added to the district forest office quarters under a rental program arranged by the county commissioners.

The county will receive $2,700 annual rental for three rooms, including one which has been partitioned in the hallway adjacent to the two other rooms.

This is the second time in recent years that the U. S. District Court at Baltimore has scheduled cases in Circuit Court quarters here.

Woman Found Dead In LaVale

Mrs. Mary M. (Logsdon) Dressman, widow of Anthony J. Dressman, was found dead yesterday at her home, 10 Klosterman Avenue, LaVale. She was 53.

Mrs. Dressman was found by a neighbor who went to the home at the request of Mrs. Anna M. Michael of Frostburg, daughter of Mrs. Dressman, who became alarmed when her mother failed to appear in Cumberland to go shopping with her.

Authorities said Mrs. Dressman died of a wound in the head inflicted by a revolver. Mrs. Dressman reportedly had been despondent since the death of her husband a month ago Thursday.

Born in Midland, she was a daughter of Mrs. Rose (Burkey) Logsdon and the late Augustine Logsdon.

Mrs. Dressman was a member of SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church, the Christian Mothers and the Third Order of St. Francis.

Surviving, besides her mother and daughter, are three brothers, Joseph and Francis Logsdon, both of Cumberland, and Raymond Logsdon, Silver Spring, and two sisters, Mrs. Regina McGaughey, Baltimore, and Mrs. Agnes Rhodes, Buckhannon, W. Va.

The body is at the Stein Funeral Home where the family will receive friends from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Monday at 9 a. m. at SS. Peter and Paul Church and burial will be in the parish cemetery.

The rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p. m. at the funeral home.

MRS. ROBERT MARTIN

Mrs. Lottie May Martin, 66, of 214 South Street, died yesterday in Memorial Hospital where she had been a patient 16 days.

A daughter of the late Alfred and Mary (Whetzel) Troxell, she was born in Cumberland. Her husband, Robert J. Martin, preceded her in death.

She is survived by a son, Robert R. Martin, Oakland; four daughters, Mrs. Lawrence Hynes, this city; Mrs. Lester Shanholtz, Killeen, Texas; Mrs. Betty Peer, Ridgeley, and Mrs. Lawrence Middelkamp, Berwyn, Md.; a brother, Frank Troxell, Brunswick, Ohio; 11 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Scarpetti Funeral Home where the family will receive friends today from 7 to 9 p. m. and tomorrow from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

A requiem mass will be celebrated Tuesday at 9 a. m. at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Burial will be in Frostburg Memorial Park.

The rosary will be recited Monday at 8 p. m. at the funeral home.

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—A 32-member parliamentary committee to promote good relations between India and the United States has been formed under chairmanship of Food Minister S. K. Patil. The idea grew out of President Eisenhower's recent visit.

City Offers Lease To County Board

The City of Cumberland has sent a lease to the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners for the rental by the county of the second floor offices in the Public Safety building on North Liberty Street.

Rental will be $3,400 annually, or $283.33 per month. The county will be responsible for janitor service and all utilities. The county board took the matter under advisement.

fer with Archbishop Francis P. Keough as it is still under consideration to get another order to operate the hospital.

Dr. A. J. Mirkin suggested that the medical foundation of County United Fund could take over the hospital.

Cites State Report

"You don't have to solicit a nickel," he said, if the CUF could work out a plan to acquire the hospital from the Sisters of Charity with annual payments.

Judge Walsh pointed out that the State Board of Health has recommended that certain things be done at the hospital and that more than $160,000 would be needed to take it over.

The $160,000 would be just a beginning, said Dr. Wylie M. Faw, who insisted that capital funds would have to be raised.

Mr. Ort said the committee should be empowered to "deliver a package" and keep the hospital operating.

The committee, suggested Dr. Ralph W. Ballin, should be able to operate the hospital as a non-profit corporation.

"Put it in the hands of a committee with power to act," suggested Judge Walsh, pointing out that it takes only a couple of days to set up a corporation.

It was pointed out that Memorial Hospital, with 254 beds, is operating at near capacity and often has to put patients in the halls during emergencies, and that the loss of Sacred Heart's 134 beds would be intolerable.

worked on the Western Maryland Railway, the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the Cumberland and Georges Creek Railroad, all of which used the local Western Maryland station as a terminal point.

Other Building Razed

The property was later occupied as a fruit, delicatessen and fine foods store for many years, and in more recent times was occupied by Lou's Auto Store for many years.

At one time, there was another store building between this property and the Western Maryland tracks, which was occupied as a meat market. This building was purchased by the Western Maryland Railway and was demolished after a train struck a street railway car and there were several other mishaps and near mishaps because motorists and pedestrians could not see approaching trains.

Mr. Eisenberg said last night that if the structure is removed, work will not start until some time after the first of the year.

Works for that community to the effective work of the utility's Area Development Department personnel.

Mr. Stultz opened his report to the board with a short review of the 1950s and the many changes those years brought to the Company, and as a result, to the "life and economy" of the area it serves.

"The past decade," Mr. Stultz said, "has been one marked by a gratifying company growth and progress."

"For example," he stated, "In the past 10 years the company has at least doubled in several phases of growth and service. These include total kilowatt-hours sold to customers in a year, dollars invested in electric property and equipment, and the annual use of kilowatt-hours by our average residential customer."

Additions to PE electric plant property and equipment in the 1950s hit the $77 million mark—this includes generating stations, lines, buildings and other customer-service facilities.

Contributing in good part to this rapid expansion, Mr. Stultz said, were not only valuable industrial plants newly located in this area, but also new and more widespread uses of electricity for space heating, air conditioning, clothes drying and television.

"In addition," he reported, "the percentage of our residential customers using electric ranges has jumped from 30 to 54 per cent in 10 years and the change in percentage of those having electric water heaters has been even more spectacular—from 11 to 36 per cent."

Mr. Stultz reviewed with board members several other major events in the company's history in the 1950s. These included the disposal of virtually all of its railway operations, the sale of its bus operations and the sale of the public water supply system and amusement park at Braddock Heights.

County Gets Notices Of Retirement

Two county workers are retiring this month and notice of their leaving the employment of the county has been sent to the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners.

Mrs. Kathleen T. Goetz, a practical nurse since 1945 for the county ended her service as of Tuesday.

James H. Sanker, a maintenance man at the County Infirmary since 1949 will retire December 31. Earl Grim, superintendent of the Infirmary, has requested the county board to select replacements as soon as possible.

Another worker, Mason Appel, of Orleans, has been examined by Dr. James T. McLean, county physician, and qualified to resume work. Appel was injured last July in a fall and has been off work since that time. He will report for work with the County Roads Department on January 11, 1960.

Grim also invited the county commissioners to attend the Christmas party being given by the Infirmary employees next Tuesday from 2 to 4 p. m.

Group Inspects Site Of Road Relocation

Officials of the B&O Railroad Company, Western Maryland Railway, State Roads Commission and the Allegheny County Board of Commissioners Thursday inspected the Mexico Farms Road relocation plan and the overhead bridge which the B&O will erect over tracks in the North Branch section of their new yards.

The county commissioners, who assumed office about a year ago, were seeking some information pertaining to the project as they are unfamiliar with the program. The county's part in the overall project is to relocate the roadway to connect with the overhead bridge.

The relocation of the roadway will eliminate a grade crossing of the B&O and the Western Maryland Railway has proposed that an underpass be constructed to eliminate a grade crossing on its line in that section.

The B&O has started work on placing the abutments for the bridge approaches and the steel for the 160 foot long structure on hand. The bridge will be of three spans, one 80 feet long and two of 40 foot lengths.

The county's responsibility for relocating the Mexico Farms Road will be assumed with federal aid matching funds.

Attending the inspection were Rolland Thompson, an assistant engineer with the State Roads Commission; Herbert Bowers, who handles federal aid programs for the SRC and John D. Bushby, district SRC engineer; R. D. Bewick, regional B&O engineer, and William Wadsworth, of the B&O engineer's office in Baltimore; Frank L. Etchison, chief engineer of the Western Maryland and Sidney George, division engineer for the Western Maryland here; County Commissioners John J. Rowan, John T. Mason and William A. Wilson and Al Wilson, of the Hazelwood Construction Company.

Former Local Man Named President Of College

Rev. Robert H. Parker, native of Cumberland and Methodist superintendent of the Baltimore South District, will become president of Wesley Junior College in Dover, Del., July 1.

His election was announced jointly by Rev. Howell O. Wilkins of Wilmington, Del., chairman of the college Board of Trustees, and Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of The Methodist Church of Washington Episcopal Area.

Rev. Mr. Parker will succeed President J. Paul Slaybaugh, who retires in June after 45 years as a teacher and school administrator. He has headed Wesley College since 1951.

Rev. Mr. Parker, 47, is a graduate of Allegheny High School, the American University, Washington, and Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J.

In 1953 he was awarded an honorary doctor of divinity degree by Western Maryland College, Westminster, for his distinguished ministerial career in the Baltimore Methodist Conference.

As superintendent of the Baltimore South District, Rev. Mr. Parker supervises the pastors of 65 churches. He was appointed to the post by Bishop Oxnam in June 1958.

Previously, Rev. Mr. Parker served 14 years as pastor of the suburban Northwood-Applod church. Starting with a congregation of 100, he developed the church into Methodism's largest in Baltimore with 2,500 members.

Rev. Mr. Wilkins, pastor of Wilmington's Hillcrest Memorial Methodist Church, said the trustees voted unanimously for Rev. Mr. Parker following a report by the board's committee on the presidency. Rev. Dr. John Traders, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, Dover, is chairman of the committee.

"We are enthusiastic about the future of Wesley College and anticipate that Rev. Mr. Parker's leadership will continue the school in the direction of becoming one of the nation's outstanding junior institutions," Rev. Mr. Wilkins said.

The college is in the midst of a $4,000,000 development program which was initiated two years ago by Dr. Slaybaugh. A new classroom building, named for the president, and a women's dormitory have been completed, and a new men's dormitory is under construction.

The school was founded by Methodists in 1873 as the Wilmington Conference Academy. Two years of college work was added in 1922 and the name was changed to Wesley Collegiate Institute, and to Wesley Junior College in 1942.

The school is under the control of the Peninsula Conference of The Methodist Church, and is one of the 135 institutions comprising the National Association of Methodist Schools and Colleges.

Rev. Mr. Parker is married to the former Miss Meredith G. Snowden, also of Cumberland. They have two daughters — Mrs. William R. Bowles, and Sharon, both of Baltimore.

His father, R. R. Parker, a retired Cumberland grocer, lives on Mason Road.

Federal Court To Hear Two Cases Here

U. S. District Court will be held at the Court House here starting February 1, 1960 with two cases on the docket, according to information received by Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris of Circuit Court.

Judge Harris, in a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday, noted the federal court use of the facilities in February in making arrangements for temporary use of the probation officer's room by the Liquor Board secretary.

Judge Harris said that the county commissioners' request for temporary use of the probation officer's office could continue until the last week in January, but after that date the federal court staff would make use of the room during the period the court is in session here.

The Liquor Board secretary, Mrs. Esther Robinson, has to vacate the third floor office space has been using as this space is being added to the district forester office quarters under a rental program arranged by the county commissioners.

The county will receive $2,700 annual rental for three rooms, including one which has been partitioned in the hallway adjacent to the two other rooms.

This is the second time in recent years that the U. S. District Court at Baltimore has scheduled cases in Circuit Court quarters here.

Heavy Burden
Of Government

Cost of government in the United States—federal, state and local—was $1.7 billion in 1902, the first year in which the Census Bureau compiled such figures. That total was equal to 8.1 per cent of the $21 billion gross national product in the same year.

By contrast, estimates of the U. S. Department of Commerce and of the National Industrial Conference Board put 1959 spending by all governments at $150 billion. That is 31.2 per cent of an expected gross national product totaling $480 billion.

Thus costs of government today are nearly four times as great, relative to the economy, as they were in 1902. During the same period—less than an average lifetime—the total public debt has increased from a little more than $3 billion to $368 billion at the end of 1958. The cost of living, meantime, increased three and a half times.

There are those who contend rising government spending tends to spur economic growth. But a joint Congressional committee that considered this possibility failed to find any lasting connection between the two. On the contrary, it seems obvious that an increasing tax burden, because of its impact upon the thrift habit, impairs the formation of new capital, essential to finance an expanding economy.

This is one of the considerations activating many who urge that government be brought to live within its income. Certainly the trend of the last half century cannot go much further without overburdening even the tremendously productive economy this nation enjoys.

A Sense Of History

Mrs. John A. Weiss of Adams, Massachusetts writes me complainingly that folks in her town take no interest in historical sites. Her particular annoyance is that the memory of Susan B. Anthony, who fought for women's rights in this country, is ignored by her townsfolk and perhaps by posterity.

That is not an unusual response to greatness. Nowadays Presidents have their friends erect memorial libraries to them while they are still alive to make certain that they will not be forgotten as most of our Presidents have been. There used to be a ramshackle house in New York in which James Monroe lived at one time but it has been torn down to make a street wider. However, Herbert Hoover, Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry Truman have memorials erected for them as repositories of books and letters and such matter. President Wilson is without a genizah which is a cemetery of books and papers. Most Presidents have not had the money or the friends to erect monuments to their memory.

The French who have always had a profound sense of history have with the greatest care preserved their historic buildings and monuments. In the United States there are several organizations that are engaged in preserving historic sites. The Massachusetts Trustees of Reservations, which looks after such matters, is particularly active and has been very successful in marking out and preserving places of historic interest. There are similar societies in many states.

Susan B. Anthony ought not to be forgotten. She fought for women's rights with more vigor and enthusiasm than discretion. It was difficult to advocate women's suffrage in the 1860's when Susan B. Anthony started her campaign. Women who wanted to vote were regarded as freaks. It took outstanding courage to advocate such political equality. One supposition was that if women got the vote, they would make politics clean. There would be no more crooks in government. There would only be the purity and nobility of the home.

This did not happen. In fact, the granting of votes to women coincided in time with Prohibition, the Jazz Age, and a general debauchery such as this country had not witnessed before. Of course, women's suffrage had nothing to do with that, but the coincidence is notable. Al Capone became the most significant figure of the moment, murdering his way to power. On balance, it can be established that nothing more was accomplished by granting women the vote than to increase the number of voters. This is undoubtedly an unpopular thing to say and I shall probably be chastised for it, but it is true.

It is impossible to find any improvement in American politics, let us say, since 1910 when only men voted. In fact, taken man for man, those who currently achieve success with voters are more photogenic, more handsome, more smiling but not more intelligent. I took the year 1910 arbitrarily; nevertheless, it is a good year to talk about — Theodore Roosevelt had forsaken the "Third Term" prospect, so that his friend, William Howard Taft, might hold that office.

Taft's statistics, as the peephole columnists say it, were not good. He was an enormous man, fat, with a large mustachio and with clothes that were a slight improvement upon those of his son, Senator Robert A. Taft. Incidentally, William Howard Taft possessed not only a great legal mind, but rare administrative skill. Before becoming President, he governed the Philippines and was Secretary of War; after being President he had a notable career as Chief Justice of the United States, but he was not chosen for his beauty.

I am sure that today he would be in trouble politically because of his size and doctors would worry about cholesterol, although Taft did manage to live to be 72 years old. He was succeeded by Woodrow Wilson who would not have won a beauty contest even in his day, yet he was a man of vast intelligence and laid the foundation for the sort of liberalism in which so many of our politicians today blindly wallow. As a matter of fact, Wilson in one election ran against Charles E. Hughes who wore whiskers, perhaps to hide a colossal intellect. What really great men these were compared to some of the pigmies who now have the effrontery to offer themselves for the Presidency of the United States.

Can't Get The Lid Nailed Down

The So-Called 'Catholic Question' In Politics

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Supposing Senator Kennedy runs ahead of all other aspirants for the Democratic Presidential nomination and goes to the National Convention with about 500 delegates' votes, and nevertheless is turned down, would this stir resentment among Catholics who might feel that the Massachusetts Senator was being brushed aside because of his religion?

This is the question which Senator Kennedy himself now is reported to have discussed in conferences with political leaders in Pittsburgh. He is known to have talked about it among friends in Washington. The story is that, if he is defeated in the primaries of various states, he will feel that such a decision would be on its merits—the greater popularity of other candidates.

It will be recalled that in 1924—when the famous contest at Madison Square Garden took place between Governor Al Smith of New York and William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, and there were more than 100 ballots before John W. Davis was selected as a compromise—the feeling of many Smith supporters was that religious bias played a big part in keeping the New York governor from getting the nomination. This hurt the Democratic Party in the election race that followed and led to the overwhelming acceptance of Al Smith as the candidate at the convention in 1928.

One of the common misconceptions prevalent then as well as today is that the Pope at Rome would regulate the behavior of an American President who happened to be a Catholic. It so happens that "Newsweek" published an article this week in which its

Rome correspondent, Curtis G. Pepper, interviewed the Rev. William A. Van Roo, an American Jesuit who is professor of theology at the Pontifical Gregorian University in Rome. The text of the interview follows:

"Q. Would a Catholic in the United States Presidency pose any problem to the church?"

"A. No.

"Q. How would the Church construe the allegiance of an American Catholic President?"

"A. The Church would regard him as an American citizen and official, bound by a sacred duty to love and serve his country, and to uphold its laws in accordance with his conscience. This is a moral obligation on all citizens and officials, and there is nothing specifically Catholic involved. Furthermore, to answer what may be implicit in this question, the Catholic has no split allegiance, no dual citizenship.

"Q. Would the Church expect a Catholic President to take doctrine into consideration in his decisions?"

"A. Taking 'doctrine' here to be religious moral teaching concerning the law of God, one must answer yes. A Catholic President, or any other President, must act in accordance with his conscience. For any man who has a religion, this means doing what he considers right according to the law of God.

"Q. If there should be a conflict between the American public interest and Church dogma, which would be considered paramount?"

"A. The question seems to me ambiguous. I understand the conflict in the question to be one of conscience in the hypothetical American President. If this is the sense of the question, then I believe it involves a gratuitous assumption. There can be no such conflict of conscience in a Catholic or in any other religious

NEW SHORTAGE — The federal government runs into some unique problems. One currently deals with a shortage of surpluses.

Under an Agriculture Department program, surplus milk products have been purchased to support the milk industry. These, in turn, have been used to aid needy people in foreign lands.

Now this program to help foreign underprivileged is in jeopardy because the surpluses have just about been used up and current demand equals current production.

The federal milk program has been a success and therefore the government has its new kind of problem—a shortage of surplus milk products.

Give Toys That Will Develop Children's Skills

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The latest on toys is to select those that help develop physical skills comparable with the age and the interest levels of the child. The idea stems from research conducted by the Meeting Street school at Providence, R. I., and the American Toy Institute. The plan can be adapted to normal and physically handicapped children. An excellent brochure on the subject, written by June Frantzen, was published by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Skills are developed in children by repeated usage of the hands and arms. We know that tots go through regular stages at certain periods of life. In this respect, the age of the normal child is used occasionally as a criterion in buying and mothers often ask the clerk, "Is this toy suitable for a 3 year old?"

On the other hand, it may be better to choose the toy that stimulates such activities as reach, grasp, release, thumb and finger skills, coordinated finger use, or arm reaching and holding. These skills are acquired in this order and a normal infant of 9 months may learn to reach, whereas this skill may be delayed until the third birthday in a crippled youngster. Nevertheless, a bright balloon or a noisy, hanging, shiny object will motivate all youngsters to reach out and both normal and handicapped tykes will benefit from these appropriate toys.

The rattle comes next because it encourages grasping. A ball, humpty-dumpty, or block is in order for the boy or girl who has graduated from reach and grasp, because it teaches release.

Thumb and finger skills are developed with moving toys (on wheels), wooden ABC blocks, pounding bench, and take-apart toys. More complicated variations are for the youngster who is more interested in action toys or in construction and assembling. A play piano, counting frame, tiny dial telephone, skill games, and stick'em boards promote co-ordinated finger use. Arm reaching and holding are encouraged at the appropriate time with miniature rolling pins, wheelbarrows, iron and ironing boards, tricycles, hobby horses, boat assembly, and paste-paper-scissor combinations.

Not if he has had enough medicine to kill the syphilis germs. Our modern drugs are capable of doing this rapidly and in this respect, they control the contagious aspect of the disease.

PANTING

Too little oxygen from a failing heart, lung disease, over-exertion, excitement, and extreme fatigue.

Ike's Meeting With Franco Most
Paradoxical Of His World Tour

By Drew Pearson

PARIS—The meeting between Ike Eisenhower of the USA and Francisco Franco of Spain will be one of the most unique and paradoxical of his tour.

It is unique because this will be the first time in history that a President of the United States ever visited Spain. Though Presidents Roosevelt and Truman travelled nearby, they studiously avoided any move which might put the stamp of approval on Franco's dictatorship.

It is paradoxical because Eisenhower once led a great democratic armada to free Europe from Nazism, while Franco, an alleged neutral, was permitting his country to be a German submarine base and spy hotbed for Nazism; also because Franca, a staunch Catholic, permits almost no other form of religious worship in his country, while Eisenhower, a non-church member until he became President, is the son of a mother who belonged to one of the most militant non-conformist sects in the world—Jehovah's Witnesses.

But despite these differences and paradoxes, the two men both want something from the other and are willing to bargain for it.

Eisenhower very much wants U. S. bases on Spanish soil. Franco wants them just as much as Ike does, but for bargaining purposes he talks as if he didn't. Without American bases and the flow of American dollars, Franco's economy would be in grave danger. And if the stamp of U. S. Government approval was removed from Franco's regime, his 20-year dictatorship would be in grave political danger. In going to Madrid, therefore, President Eisenhower dashes the hopes of thousands of exiles and European believers in democracy, just as he will the hopes of satellite exiles when he goes to Moscow next spring.

Franco Is Insulted

Actually, Franco needs Ike far more than Ike needs him. Yet Franco, bitterly anti-Communist, has gone so far as to flirt with the satellite countries in order to throw a few jitters into the U. S. A. It was largely because of these jitters that Eisenhower at the last minute changed his plans for a one-day stop in Madrid.

The U. S. Ambassador in Madrid, John Lodge, former Governor of Connecticut and brother of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge of the UN, bombarded the White House with a series of cables reporting that Franco was stunned over the President's plan to fly right over Madrid without stopping. Franco considered this an insult, Lodge reported, and it might have drastic repercussions on Spanish-American relations.

Unless the President changed his mind, Lodge cabled, the fate of America's newly built bases in Spain might be jeopardized.

As soon as Lodge began talking about bases, Ike began to listen. This is the kind of language that he as a military man understands. So he revamped his itinerary and decided to be the first American President in history to visit Spain.

The bases which Ike was worried about are three Air Force and three Navy installations, only one of the latter important. The Air Force has built Morron Air Field near Seville, Torrejon near Madrid and Zaragoza near the city of that name. The Navy has one big base at Rota, a fuel depot at El Ferrol, and an ordnance magazine at Catagena.

Lobby Got Bases

considered too important.

They were built largely at the instigation of one of the most adroit lobbies ever to operate in Washington. Its chief motive was supporting Franco. In fact Franco paid around a quarter of a million dollars a year to such registered lobbyists and lawyers as Charles Patrick Clark, the son-in-law of the late Vice President Barkley, Anatole Visson, William Carney, formerly with the New York Times, and Kelly-Nasser, Inc., the New York public relations firm.

Unpaid but probably more powerful were some of the leading prelates of the United States plus some very vocal Congressmen, such as the late Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada and Rep. Eugene Keough of Brooklyn, who pulled wires for Franco despite the fact that his relations with the Vatican have been none too good and that such leading Catholics as the late Premier De Gasperi of Italy and Premier Georges Bidault of France were bitterly, unrelentingly opposed to him.

Opposed to aiding Franco were such potent officials as President Harry Truman and his Secretary of State, Dean Acheson. Nevertheless, the Franco lobby won out. Franco was first voted aid, later got military bases, and in the end, the hand of fate—in the form of Moroccan nationalists who demand the removal of U. S. bases from Morocco — have proved the Franco lobby right.

The Spanish bases are important—for one vital purpose—retaliation against Moscow. Moscow could knock out the Spanish bases with intermediate range ballistic missiles in an hour or so, and Franco knows this. But the United States has so many bases in Europe and the Near East that Moscow could not knock out all of them. Some would be left for retaliatory action. And it only takes a handful of A-bombs to wipe out the key cities of Russia.

Therefore, the Spanish bases plus other European bases continue to be important as an insurance policy against war. But these bases are also targets. Russian IRBMs are zeroed in on them. That's why Franco wants to raise the price. That will be the chief issue in the background of his talks with Ike.

Another Myth

By Leslie Gould

Another "myth" as to the Communist threat are the "contributions" of the Sino-Soviet bloc in the field of aid and trade. The British Information Services comes up with some interesting figures on this. In the 1954 to 1958 period:

The U. S. A. contributed in grants and loans well over $10 billions to underdeveloped countries.

The rest of the Western countries more than $5 billion.

The Sino-Soviet aid in the same period was a bare 5 per cent of the Western total, running about $150 million a year. This is mainly in repayable credits.

Making the same comparison on a per capita basis for the same period for aid:

The U. S. A. contribution was $58 per head of population.

Britain—$22 per head of population.

Russia and the whole Sino-Soviet bloc—80 cents per head.

As to trade:

The Sino-Soviet bloc accounts for not more than 5 per cent of the earnings of the less developed countries of Asia, Southeast Asia and Africa.

Britain alone imports from those areas almost 40 times as much as that of the whole Communist bloc.

The British then raise this question:

"Why then does the Sino-Soviet Bloc get a quite disproportionate amount of kudos for their aid and trade programs?"

The British think one reason may be that the different allies in the Western camp have been slow to recognize what their partners are doing already.

The real reason is another myth—that the Western World, particularly the U. S. A. with its Madison Avenue, knows how to merchandise its way of life.

Madison Avenue may be able to sell electric refrigerators to the Eskimos, but it does a lousy job of selling the U. S. A. not only to its Western Allies, but also to the underdeveloped areas.

Russia and Red China—backward countries with the great mass of the populations illiterate and with no Madison Avenue, and its bright young men and women—do a far superior job of propagandizing.

Russia has one goal—Communist world domination. Every act, every move is planned with this in view—a Communist take over. Trade is one of the tools. It is perverted for political action. Soviet trade is state trading. Profits is not a consideration, so prices can be and are strategically determined by the Red bosses in ways not open to private enterprise.

Russian trade accounts for only 5 per cent of the earnings of the less developed countries. Yet in these are the areas the Communists seem to be making their greatest inroads.

It makes no sense.

Weight may be lost in the early stages of the disease if the malignancy interferes with digestion or appetite. If not, the lesion may be well advanced before reduction in poundage occurs.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Dr. John Erskine, savant and author, wrote: "At the end of my university studies, when I was leaving for my first professional job, I went to say goodbye to my old teacher, William Trent, who said, 'I can give you no theoretical advice in pedagogy, but I'll tell you one thing from experience. It will frequently happen when you are holding forth that some boy in the class will disagree. He will probably shake his head violently. You will be tempted to go after him and convert him then and there. Don't do it. He is probably the only one who is listening.'"

Ike's Meeting With Franco Most Paradoxical Of His World Tour

By Drew Pearson

PARIS—The meeting between Ike Eisenhower of the USA and Francisco Franco of Spain will be one of the most unique and paradoxical of his tour.

It is unique because this will be the first time in history that a President of the United States ever visited Spain. Though Presidents Roosevelt and Truman travelled nearby, they studiously avoided any move which might put the stamp of approval on Franco's dictatorship.

It is paradoxical because Eisenhower once led a great democratic armada to free Europe from Nazism, while Franco, an alleged neutral, was permitting his country to be a German submarine base and spy hothed for Nazism; also because Franco, a staunch Catholic, permits almost no other form of religious worship in his country, while Eisenhower, a non-church member until he became President, is the son of a mother who belonged to one of the most militant non-conformist sects in the world—Jehovah's Witnesses.

But despite these differences and paradoxes, the two men both want something from the other and are willing to bargain for it.

Eisenhower very much wants U. S. bases on Spanish soil. Franco wants them just as much as Ike does, but for bargaining purposes he talks as if he didn't. Without American bases and the flow of American dollars, Franco's economy would be in grave danger. And if the stamp of U. S. Government approval was removed from Franco's regime, his 20-year dictatorship would be in grave political danger. In going to Madrid, therefore, President Eisenhower dashes the hopes of thousands of exiles and European believers in democracy, just as he will the hopes of satellite exiles when he goes to Moscow next spring.

Franco Is Insulted

Actually, Franco needs Ike far more than Ike needs him. Yet Franco, bitterly anti-Communist, has gone so far as to flirt with the satellite countries in order to throw a few jitters into the U. S. A. It was largely because of these jitters that Eisenhower at the last minute changed his plans for a one-day stop in Madrid.

The U. S. Ambassador in Madrid, John Lodge, former Governor of Connecticut and brother of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge of the UN, bombarded the White House with a series of cables reporting that Franco was stunned over the President's plan to fly right over Madrid without stopping. Franco considered this an insult, Lodge reported, and it might have drastic repercussions on Spanish-American relations.

Unless the President changed his mind, Lodge cabled, the fate of America's newly built bases in Spain might be jeopardized.

As soon as Lodge began talking about bases, Ike began to listen. This is the kind of language that he as a military man understands. So he revamped his itinerary and decided to be the first American President in history to visit Spain.

The bases which Ike was worried about are three Air Force and three Navy installations, only one of the latter important. The Air Force has built Morron Air Field near Seville, Torrejon near Madrid and Zaragoza near the city of that name. The Navy has one big base at Rota, a fuel depot at El Ferrol, and an ordnance magazine at Catagena.

Lobby Got Bases

considered too important.

They were built largely at the instigation of one of the most adroit lobbies ever to operate in Washington. Its chief motive was supporting Franco. In fact Franco paid around a quarter of a million dollars a year to such registered lobbyists and lawyers as Charles Patrick Clark, the son-in-law of the late Vice President Barkley, Anatole Visson, William Carney, formerly with the New York Times, and Kelly-Nasser, Inc., the New York public relations firm.

Unpaid but probably more powerful were some of the leading prelates of the United States plus some very vocal Congressmen, such as the late Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada and Rep. Eugene Keough of Brooklyn, who pulled wires for Franco despite the fact that his relations with the Vatican have been none too good and that such leading Catholics as the late Premier De Gasperi of Italy and Premier Georges Bidault of France were bitterly, unrelentingly opposed to him.

Opposed to aiding Franco were such potent officials as President Harry Truman and his Secretary of State, Dean Acheson. Nevertheless, the Franco lobby won out. Franco was first voted aid, later got military bases, and in the end, the hand of fate—in the form of Moroccan nationalists who demand the removal of U. S. bases from Morocco—have proved the Franco lobby right.

The Spanish bases are important—for one vital purpose—retaliation against Moscow. Moscow could knock out the Spanish bases with intermediate range ballistic missiles in an hour or so, and Franco knows this. But the United States has so many bases in Europe and the Near East that Moscow could not knock out all of them. Some would be left for retaliatory action. And it only takes a handful of A-bombs to wipe out the key cities of Russia.

Therefore, the Spanish bases plus other European bases continue to be important as an insurance policy against war. But these bases are also targets. Russian IRBMs are zeroed in on them. That's why Franco wants to raise the price. That will be the chief issue in the background of his talks with Ike.

Another Myth

By Leslie Gould

Another "myth" as to the Communist threat are the "contributions" of the Sino-Soviet bloc in the field of aid and trade.

The British Information Services comes up with some interesting figures on this. In the 1954 to 1958 period:

The U. S. A. contributed in grants and loans well over $10 billions to underdeveloped countries.

The rest of the Western countries more than $5 billion.

The Sino-Soviet aid in the same period was a bare 5 per cent of the Western total, running about $150 million a year. This is mainly in repayable credits.

Making the same comparison on a per capita basis for the same period for aid:

The U. S. A. contribution was $58 per head of population.

Britain—$22 per head of population.

Russia and the whole Sino-Soviet bloc—80 cents per head.

As to trade:

The Sino-Soviet bloc accounts for not more than 5 per cent of the earnings of the less developed countries of Asia, Southeast Asia and Africa.

Britain alone imports from those areas almost 40 times as much as that of the whole Communist bloc.

The British then raise this question:

"Why then does the Sino-Soviet Bloc get a quite disproportionate amount of kudos for their aid and trade programs?"

It makes no sense.

Benny Paret Upsets Scott

Unranked Cuban
Takes Decision

By MURRAY ROSE

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—Benny (Kid) Paret, an unranked Cuban and a 3-1 underdog, turned in one of the major upsets of the year Friday night by flooring and decisively outpointing top-ranked welterweight contender Charley Scott of Philadelphia in a television 10-rounder.

Paret, a fast-punching fighter, climaxed his victory by dropping the heavy favorite with a left and right to the jaw midway in the final round. Scott was up at seven and given the mandatory eight-count. Paret stormed after his stricken foe but couldn't floor him again.

The defeat was costly to the 23-year-old Philadelphian. It not only snapped his 13-month unbeaten streak at six but just about ruined any hopes he had of getting a title shot with welterweight champion Don Jordan.

The officials had Paret the winner by the following scores: Referee Harry Kessler, 6-3-1; Judge Tony Rossi, 6-4, and Judge Mike Parisi, 7-3.

Paret weighed 149½. Scott 149.

TCU And Penn State Picked To Win Bowl Games Today

Texans Given 8-Point Edge Over Clemson

Nittany Lions Are One-Point Choice Over Crimson Tide

By JOE SARGIS
United Press International
Texas Christian is picked over Clemson, Penn State is a slim choice over Alabama, and Texas A&I is favored over Lenoir-Rhyne Saturday in the three college football bowl games which kick off the annual post-season play.

TCU, ranked eighth in the final United Press International board of coaches ratings, is an eight-point choice over Lenoir-Rhyne, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, in the inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl at Houston, Tex.

70,000 May See Game
A crowd of from 60,000 to 70,000 is anticipated with the game to be televised nationally beginning at approximately 3:30 p.m. e.s.t. or as soon as the Holiday Bowl game at St. Petersburg, Fla., between Texas A&I and Lenoir-Rhyne, is over, CBS is handling both telecasts.

Penn State, the East's second best team this year behind national champion Syracuse, is a one-point choice over invading Alabama in the first Liberty Bowl game at Philadelphia. The odds-makers favored Penn State because of All America quarterback Richie Lucas and familiar surroundings, figuring that the predicted cold weather will prove a greater disadvantage to the Crimson Tide.

Teletext Starts 12:45
This game will be televised nationally by NBC beginning at 12:45 p.m. e.s.t. with a crowd of no more than 40,000 expected in 100,000 seat Municipal Stadium which Army and Navy traditionally fill for their annual skirmish.

Both TCU and Clemson finished the season with 8-2 records, both won or shared in conference titles (TCU shared the Southwest title with Texas), and both basically are defensive teams featuring big lines.

The Horned Frogs, primarily a running club, will be pinning their hopes on All-America tackle Don Floyd, fullback Jack Spikes and breakaway threat Harry Foreland. Clemson has a dangerous threat in passing wide receiver Harvey White and a pair of huge linemen—245-pound Lou Cordileone, first draft choice of the New York Giants, and 240-pound Harold Olson, No. 2 draft pick of the Chicago Cardinals.

In 10 Bowl Games
Neither team is a stranger to post-season play. The Horned Frogs have been in 10 previous bowl games, winning four, losing five and tying one. Clemson has won an even split in six games. TCU and the Air Force Academy battled to a scoreless tie in the Cotton Bowl last Jan. 1, while Clemson bowed to then national champion Louisiana State, 7-0, in the Sugar Bowl.

Two Title Fights Set For Feb. 4 At Los Angeles Arena
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two 15-round world championship fights will be staged at the Sports Arena here Feb. 4, matchmaker George Parnassus said Friday.

Bantamweight champion Jose Becerra of Mexico will fight a rematch with the former titleholder, Alphonse Halimi, of France; Carlos Ortiz of New York will defend his junior welterweight crown against Ramundo (Battling) Torres of Mexico.

Becerra won the 118-pound title from Halimi when he knocked out the Frenchman in eight rounds here last July 8.

Ortiz, a native of Puerto Rico, stopped Kenny Lane June 12 in New York to win the newly re-established junior welterweight crown.

Torres, only 18, is unbeaten in 28 fights and has scored 22 knockouts.

John Unitas Named Top Pro Gridder

Colts' Ace To Get Bert Bell Award

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Johnny Unitas, the Baltimore Colts' star quarterback, was named the outstanding professional football player of 1959 Friday by the Maxwell Football Club of Philadelphia and will be the recipient of the annual Bert Bell memorial award.

The award will be made each year in memory of the late National Football League commissioner who died last Oct. 11.

Unitas will receive the Bell award at the club's 23rd annual dinner here Feb. 1. At the same time, All America quarterback Richie Lucas of Penn State will receive the Maxwell award for being voted the No. 1 college football player.

Club secretary Ronald E. Kinney, who announced the election, said Unitas piled up 44 first place votes out of a possible 54, and totaled 247 points on a five-three-one basis for the first three places.

Jimmy Brown of Cleveland was second with 96 points and Charlie Conerly of New York was third with 84.

Fuzzy Levane Quits Knicks

Carl Braun Will Handle N.Y. Pros

BOSTON (AP)—Andrew (Fuzzy) Levane resigned under fire Friday as coach of the New York Knicks, and Carl Braun was named to handle the team for the rest of the National Basketball Assn. season.

Braun, 32, now playing his 11th season with the Knicks, was appointed by President Ned Irish.

Levane, 39, took over the Knicks last year and guided them to their first NBA playoff in four seasons.

New York, with an 8-19 record in the NBA this season, is in last place in the Eastern Division, 15 games behind leading Boston.

Parry O'Brien Captures Award

NEW YORK (UPI)—Parry O'Brien of Los Angeles, the world record shot put holder has been named the winner of the first annual L. Di Benedetto memorial award for the outstanding single performance of 1959 by an American track and field athlete.

On the basis of five points for a first place vote, three for second and one for third, O'Brien recovered 152 points, while John Thomas of Boston was second with 111 for his indoor record of 7 feet, 1 1/4 inches in the high jump and Don Bragg of Philadelphia was third with 10 1/2 votes for his indoor record of 15 feet, 9 1/2 inches in the pole vault.

Moore Gets Bout

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Featherweight champion Davey Moore has been signed for a non-title fight here Jan. 12. Matchmaker Jackie King said Friday he hopes to line up a topnotch boxer from Mexico to oppose Moore.

Hank Aaron's .636 Slugging Mark Tops NL

Post Of Phillies Fanned 101 Times

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Hank Aaron of the Braves was acknowledged the National League's No. 1 power hitter for 1959 Friday, and you could have gotten the same information simply by asking the pitchers.

League averages released here, however, made it official by revealing that Aaron compiled a .636 slugging percentage, which was high for the circuit. The only player even fairly close to him was Ernie Banks of the Cubs, who registered a .596 mark.

The slugging averages are compiled by comparing a player's total number of bases with his total number of official times at bat. Aaron hit for 400 trial bases in 629 times up. His 400 total bases led the league and represented the highest figure since Stan Musial of the Cardinals hit for 429 total bases in 1948.

Eddie Mathews of the Braves finished third in slugging with .593 and tied at .583 were Frank Robinson of the Reds and Willie Mays of the Giants.

Jim Gilliam of the Dodgers received the most bases on balls, 96, with Banks getting the most intentional passes, 20.

The doubtful honor of being the league's strikeout champion went to Wally Post of the Phillies, who fanned 101 times. Del Crandall of the Braves grounded into the most double plays, 24.

Robinson was hit the most times by a pitcher, eight.

SLINGIN' SAM'S A PRO AGAIN — Sammy Baugh, the scourge of pass defenders during his 16-year career with the Washington Redskins, strikes a familiar pose after signing as head coach of the New York Titans of the new American Football League. ### New York Signs Former Redskins To 3-Year Pact

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Sammy Baugh, one of pro football's greatest quarterbacks but a reluctant coach, took a new job Friday as head coach of the New York Titans of the American Football League.

Baugh, coach at Hardin-Simmons College for the past five years, signed a three-year contract at a salary which was not disclosed but which he said "made me happier than anything I ever got in pro football."

He will assume his new duties after helping coach the Southern team in the annual Blue-Gray game at Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 22.

Baugh is the second head coach under contract in the new league, which expects to start operations in 1960. Gerrard (Buster) Ramsey was appointed coach of the Buffalo club.

Baugh, who played 16 seasons for the Washington Redskins in the National Football League, holds more pro passing records than any other player in addition to the record for durability.

He retired after the 1952 season and became associate coach at Hardin-Simmons because it was near the ranch he operates at Rotan, Tex. When Murray Evans resigned as head coach in 1955, Mike Kelly of SS. Peter & Paul leads the scoring race in games played to date with 62 points to his credit, an average of 20.6 points per game. Jim Hudson of St. Mary's Gaels occupies the runner-up spot with 47 tallies while Dick Delaney of St. Michael's is third with 33 points.

The scoring records:

G.	F.	Tot.
M. Kelly, SS. Peter & Paul	27	618
J. Hudson, St. Mary's	22	3-6
Delaney, St. Michael's	15	8-15

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Ted Williams and Sam Snead headed a field of 14 fishermen entered Friday in the "World Series of Sport Fishing" to be held in south Florida waters Jan. 15-20.

The tournament will consist of five-day round-robin competition. The President's Cup will be presented to the champion by Col. Eddie Eagan, chairman of the People-to-People Sports Committee.

Auto racing and other current Polo Grounds features could operate in "half light" but not pro football.

Otto Graham, former Cleveland quarterback who has been coaching at the U. S. Coast Guard Academy, so far is heading the line of his wife to stay out of the big-time coaching rat race. He has rejected at least one offer (New York Titans) from the new American Football League.

Allegany High Plays At Frederick Tonight

Cadets Lose Opener Here; Potomac State Winds Up Road Trip

Allegany High School's floor-men will make their third start of the season tonight, facing the Frederick High Cadets in the final of their series at Frederick, Md., in a Cumberland Valley Athletic League game.

Frederick dropped a 51-48 decision to Allegany High School here one week ago and Coach Homer Brooks' Cadets are hopeful of avenging that setback when they tackle the Campers on the Frederick court.

Allegany owns a 1-1 record in the C.V.A.L. while Frederick is 0-1. The Campers' defeat came at the hands of North Hagerstown, 47-38.

The Cadets' overall record is 2-1, the wins being scored at the expense of Boonsboro and Middletown.

Potomac State College plays its final game of 1959 tonight when it meets Prince Georges Junior College in Washington, D. C. This game winds up a two-day tour in Maryland for Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's quint. The Cata-mounts played St. Mary's Junior College last night. Potomac returns to action after the holidays by playing Frostburg State Teachers College in the Mountain City on January 8.

Tonight the two-day Holiday Invitation Tournament ends at Hancock High School.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: My daughter-in-law asked me to take her 4-year-old son for the day as she had to work a full day with a church group. I was happy to say yes. About 6:30 after I had fed him supper I phoned Florence and asked when she wanted me to bring the child back. She replied "When he's 16."

I know she meant it as a joke but I was distressed to think that a mother would say such a thing, even in jest.

Why is it that the modern mother looks upon rearing children as such a task? When I brought up my three I enjoyed every single minute of it. What's wrong with today's mother?

—OLD FASHIONED

DEAR OLD FASHIONED: Your memory is a little rusty. Dear Nobody can bring up three normal children and "love every single minute of it."

The modern mother has many more demands on her time than her mother had. She's expected to participate in community affairs, politics, P.T.A., her husband's favorite sport, Cub Scouts, Brownies, local charities and church groups.

The average mother is wearing three hats — short order cook, chauffeur and night-nurse. Don't criticize your daughter-in-law for this small joke. If a mother can keep her sense of humor these days, she has the battle half won.

DEAR ANN: My husband and I and our two daughters moved out here 12 years ago. We are 1,000 miles from my family. Once a year my Mother and Dad come to visit us. They stay for a week, bring canned goods, smoked meats and everything they can pack into the car.

When they leave my husband becomes insulting, says they are a pain in the neck, complains that they eat too much, and that I wait on them hand and foot.

His folks never come to visit although we've invited them many times. They are a cold bunch and there never was any

My family just left and for months I'll have to listen to my husband criticize them. What shall I say to him?

TAMPA MRS.

DEAR TAMPA: Save your pipes. Nothing you could say would make any difference. Develop an elephant hide and a tin but I was distressed to think that a mother would say such a thing, even in jest.

The best thing you can do is this: When he starts in, say to yourself "This poor, insensitive character has never had a decent relationship with his own family, therefore he must attack me and my family when we show one another love and respect." Put this column in your top drawer and read these words whenever you need the help.

DEAR ANN: The other morning I picked up the phone and a clear, feminine voice said "What are you going to do about the romance between your husband and —?"

My husband has an ordinary job in an ordinary office. The woman is a widow who works there also. I never suspected by husband of cheating. He seldom goes anywhere without me and I've no reason to be unsure of him.

Common sense tells me to put this out of my mind, but I can't. Can you help me?

SHAKEN

DEAR SHAKEN: This anonymous phone call is a vicious attempt to upset you. Don't fall into the trap.

Final Notices On City Taxes Are Due Soon

Final notices on 1959 taxes will go out soon. Finance Commissioner Lucile Roeder announced yesterday.

She said there are nine more days on which taxpayers may make full or partial payments and make a 50-cent charge made to cover the cost of additional clerical work and postage for mailing the notices.

January 2 is the last day for payment to escape the 50-cent charge.

Hundreds of residents have taken advantage this fall of the plan to make partial payments of taxes and have saved considerable interest costs.

About 150 final tax notices are being prepared.

Billing Machine Preparations Made

The Allegany County Tax Collector's office is making preparations for programming the new electric billing machine which the tax collector hopes to have in use by February.

William B. Orndorff, tax collector, said yesterday the construction of the Allegany County tax bills will have to be outlined so the machine can be built according to the specific needs of the county office.

The machine automatically will compute discounts, state and county taxes due, special taxes, and other itemized details now typed on bills by county personnel.

The purchase of the machine was authorized by the county commissioners in September. It will cost approximately $10,896.50.

Firemen said the damage was confined to the transformer and nearby wires.

East Side Fire Company was called to the home of Robert Doyle, 718 Shriver Avenue, yesterday at 8:40 a. m. when a stove in the living room overheated.

Firemen said the heavy fire overheated the stove pipe but caused no damage.

The same company rolled yesterday at 4:34 a. m. to quench a wood fire which was burning in the foundation of a razed dwelling. There was no damage.

Market Bounces Up Sharp In Final Hour Of Trading

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market Friday bounced up sharply in the final hour of trading with steel, electronic and automobile issues dominating the play.

But the extent of the rally wasn't especially noticeable in the averages since support centered largely in the glamor and special stocks rather than the top quality issues which measure the rise and fall of the market.

The list seceded in the early trading, swayed by news from the steel front. Trading turned cautious when it was learned that the market was favorable for the market.

Committee Named To Save Hospital

'Can't Be Closed For Single Day'

A five-man committee was named here yesterday and charged with full powers to take whatever steps are needed to assure the continued operation of Sacred Heart Hospital.

The committee headed by Dr. Charles C. Zimmerman was named at a meeting held in the Council Chamber at City Hall and attended by up to 50 area leaders fired with the determination that the 134-bed hospital cannot be allowed to close for even a single day.

Other members of the committee are Lewis J. Ort, Charles A. Piper, Former Judge William C. Walsh and John J. McMullen. John A. Moberly, superintendent of Memorial Hospital, was asked to serve as technical advisor to the committee.

Notice Was Given
The background of the emergency was outlined by Dr. Blaine Schindler, spokesman for the hospital's medical staff.

The Sisters of Charity of St. Vincent de Paul, Emmitsburg, he said advised the Mayor and Council of Cumberland almost three years ago that they would continue to operate the hospital only until April of 1960.

The notice, he said, was given well in advance to give the community time to find another order or unit to take over.

He said extensive negotiations were held, and that at one time it seemed that a new order of nuns would take over. The talks fell through, he added, and at present no definite negotiations are being held.

Dr. Schindler said he had discussed the problem with Sister Celeste, superintendent, and had been told that, as far as she knew, the order plans to close the hospital next April 1.

May Get Notice
He explained that since it takes time for orderly closing, the area will probably get a note from Emmitsburg saying that the hospital can take no new patients after March 1.

He said he was sure the Sisters of Charity would continue to operate the hospital for a month past the deadline if there were assurance someone would take it over within that time.

He said he talked to Rev. F. J. Dodd, director, and was told the order has set a price of $160,000 for the entire facilities of the hospital, except for its food and drug inventories.

Mr. Ort, who served as chairman, said the entire area is concerned over the possibility of the loss of the hospital.

It is not certain, but a possibility is that the $125,000 trust fund set up by the late Ferman G. Pugh could be used toward acquiring the assets of the hospital, Judge Walsh reported.

Needs Court Action
He warned that use of the funds would require approval of the Circuit Court and possibly the Court of Appeals since the fund was set up to take care of charity patients and not for capital expenditures.

Saying the audience was evidence "this hospital cannot close," Mr. Moberly pointed out there are four things which could happen:

1. Another religious order could take over the hospital.
2. A group of doctors or individuals could operate it as a private hospital, an alternative he labeled "a mistake."
3. A group of people could create a non-profit corporation and operate it in the same manner as Memorial Hospital.

4. It could be turned over to the board of governors of Memorial Hospital for operation.

Mr. Moberly said, "all must agree we can't close the hospital for even a single day" since the needs of the community and its nearby area could not be fulfilled at Memorial Hospital.

Two representatives of the Mennonite Church attended the meeting.

Mennonites Interested
Harold W. Ours, Short Gap, said his church is in the business of operating hospitals and has been exploring the possibilities of a hospital in the East.

He said the church would be interested only in operation and nurses' training, but not in the purchase of the institution.

Dr. W. Royce Hodges pointed out that the Mennonite Church operates Brookhaven in Hagerstown and that he "knows of none run better."

The personnel of the committee was suggested by William R. Carscaden, city attorney, who pointed out the crisis was an area, not just a city, problem.

It was his suggestion that the committee make "a terrific study" and report back.

Gets Full Powers
In view of the urgency, civic leaders adopted a suggestion of Mr. Ort that the committee be empowered to act and to operate the hospital until an order or agency takes over.

Judge Walsh said the committee would have to resolve several problems, see what can be done toward acquisition, find out how to pay, and find someone to operate the hospital.

He said he is in full accord with the plans because the area "can't afford to let it close," as the community cannot get along without its facilities.

He also suggested that some member of the committee con-

Bruce Named To Traffic Post At Kelly

William E. Bruce has been named to the newly-created position of assistant traffic department manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, effective January 1, according to William H. Oburn, vice president of finance and operating.

Mr. Bruce joined Kelly in April 1957, and prior to that was employed in the traffic department of the Gulf Oil Corporation in Pittsburgh. During both World War II and the Korean War he saw active duty as a fighter pilot.

Born in Arbroath, Scotland, he came to the United States at an early age with his parents. He attended the University of Pittsburgh and the College of Advanced Traffic in Pittsburgh.

Since moving to Cumberland, both Mr. and Mrs. Bruce have been active in community affairs. Mr. Bruce is a member of the Junior Association of Commerce, Ali Ghan Shrine Temple and the Tri-State Traffic Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce and their daughter, Charlotte, reside at 12 Glen View Terrace, LaVale.

City Officials To Air Street Plan Monday

The proposed five-year street improvement program will be the first order of business at a pre-council meeting of the Mayor and Council Monday.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said the meeting will begin promptly at 9 a. m. and is being called to allow Street Commissioner John J. Long to discuss the program.

The street commissioner yesterday suggested further study of means of financing the plan.

The commissioner said he felt study was necessary after considering the tenor of statements made at a public meeting Thursday night in the City Hall to sound out opinion on the proposed long-range project.

Commissioner Long said he felt the statements made at the meeting by citizens, and replies to questions by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, were "excellent" since they disclosed the feeling of taxpayers on the program and explained the extent of the improvement project.

"The Mayor and Council," he continued, "should investigate the many suggestions made and continue to seek a financial plan for the entire permanent, street improvement program, or a portion of the program. It is desirable to find a plan that will not place a too-severe tax burden upon our citizens."

The commissioner also said he is in favor of a suggestion by Mayor J. Edwin Keech to seek additional opinions of Cumberland citizens by means of mail or post cards.

Mayor Keech yesterday suggested that attempts be made to

Hardesty Says FSTC 'Shocked' By Fund Cut

Money Is Lacking For Two New Dorms

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, said last night that reduced appropriations for the college for next year proposed by Gov. Tawes comes as a shock to the college administration and the 401 students now living under crowded conditions.

The State Department of Education had recommended that a total of $1,131,500 be allotted for capital improvements at Frostburg State Teachers College, but the governor recommended that only $175,000 be expended for FSTC for the next fiscal year.

Mr. Hardesty said the action by the governor approving funds (which did not include $850,000 for a men's residence hall and a women's residence hall) was "shocking" to the college's administration and the 401 students now living in three dormitories which have a normal capacity of 268 students.

College Overcrowded
The college president said 67 additional students from distant towns are now residing in private residences in Frostburg. This is the maximum number of rooms available, and this was achieved after an appeal to the public over a period of time, Mr. Hardesty said.

Already 130 applications with checks covering reservations for September 1960 have been received at the college. In previous years it has been as late as March before such a large number of applications has been received, Mr. Hardesty said.

Mr. Hardesty added that the State Board of Education has realized the overcrowded conditions and the emergency at FSTC, and already has purchased 13 lots on Park Avenue which will provide sites for the two residence halls.

Dining Hall Will Help
The college president said the overcrowded conditions of preparing food and feeding 844 college students in a dining hall originally equipped to handle 200 students will be alleviated in September when Gunter Hall (dining hall) is expected to be completed.

The freshmen enrollment is expected to be at 350 next fall with a total college enrollment of 1,000 if it were possible to house all who qualify for admission in September, Mr. Hardesty explained.

He said the construction of the two residence halls requested therefore would merely take care of a backlog of residence hall construction and alleviate the overcrowded conditions now existing.

Will Go To Baltimore
Mr. Hardesty said he has made plans to go to Baltimore Monday to confer with the State Department of Education concerning the residence hall situation.

The state department had asked that $3,589,000 be spent on five colleges, but Gov. Tawes pared the requested appropriations to $1,193,000.

The governor's proposals for the $175,000 for the Frostburg school would be distributed as follows: $60,000 for the site of the new women's dorm, $60,000 for building a roadway and sidewalks into the new laboratory school (Thomas G. Pullen School), and providing play court and drainage and stage development of the athletic field.

Other proposed expenditures at FSTC besides the funds for the two new dorms were $20,000 in equipment for the dining hall-student activities building, and $35,000 for remodeling the old lab school.

Club To Remain
The property has been handed down to the heirs and is now in the fourth generation of ownership. Principal owner is L. E. Eisenberg, 823 Windsor Road.

Mr. Eisenberg last night confirmed reports that inquiry has been made into the cost of razing the structure. He said there are two properties on the tract, the one in the rear being used as a club. He said this building will not, at least for the present, be removed. There is space on the Baltimore Street section for 12 to 15 cars.

The building has been a Baltimore Street landmark for many years and was once called the Old Hotel property because a man by the name of Dice Bosley operated a restaurant, saloon and rented sleeping rooms to railroaders and trainmen who

Cub Pack 94 Gets Charter

The recently-organized Cub Pack 94, sponsored by St. Ambrose Catholic Church in Cresaptown, received its charter at ceremonies this week at the church. The charter was presented by Charles Newman, left, district executive of Nemacolin Trail District, to Rev. Carroll Warner, OFM Cap., pastor of St. Ambrose Church. Looking on is Raleigh G. Ritchie, cubmaster.

Baltimore St. Landmark May Be Removed

Owners Planning New Parking Lot

Owners of an 85-year-old Baltimore Street, has been vacant for most of the past five years and is located on the northerly side of Baltimore Street next to the Western Maryland Railway. It last housed a discount store.

Years ago, the property was purchased by the late Gustave Eisenberg, who operated a dry goods and notion store about the time of the Civil War at the corner of Baltimore and South George streets, now the location of Montgomery Ward Company. Mr. Eisenberg was noted in his day for the type of store he operated and for the fact that he specialized in manufacturing hoops and hoop skirts.

The property has been handed down to the heirs and is now in the fourth generation of ownership. Principal owner is L. E. Eisenberg, 823 Windsor Road.

Vandals Take Light Bulbs Off Yule Tree

Someone has been participating in the not-so-delightful old Christmas custom of stealing lights from city-erected Christmas trees.

That is the report from the City Park Board, which said members of the Auxiliary Police will be assigned to guard the decorations.

Officials said 27 bulbs were taken from the huge tree at Emmanuel Episcopal Church Thursday night.

Authorities found matches lying on the floor of the Creche Tuesday night and said there were indications someone had tried to set fire to straw which lines the floor of the replica of the First Christmas.

A Park Board spokesman said strict punishment will be meted out to vandals.

Church Notices For Christmas Due Monday

Notices of special Christmas services intended for publication in the Times-News Christmas church page must be delivered to the newspaper office by 11 p.m. Monday, December 21.

The deadline for notices of services of Sunday, December 27, also will be 11 p.m. Monday, December 21.

To avoid confusion, Christmas notices should be clearly marked.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Brown announce the birth of a daughter December 5 in the Naval Hospital at Portsmouth, Va. The mother is the former Miss Claudette Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Collins, Valley Road. The father is a son of Mrs. Esther Brown, Oldtown Road.

P. J. Carpenti To Resign As Magistrate

Will Accept State Legal Position

Peter J. Carpenti, magistrate in the local Trial Magistrate Court, is planning to resign from this position about January 1 to accept an appointment in the legal department of the State Roads Commission as a special assistant to the attorney general.

Magistrate Carpenti is serving his second appointment as a trial magistrate here. He served some years ago under a previous Democratic administration. He is a local attorney and will continue his own practice of law here in addition to the new duties of the state office.

His resignation from trial magistrate court will create a vacancy there, and the Democratic State Central Committee will meet soon to recommend a replacement to Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

Residence Requirement

Since the two local trial magistrates are also designated to serve as city police magistrates, it is necessary that they be residents of the city of Cumberland.

The Democrats therefore will probably be required to recommend an appointee who resides within the city.

Party leaders argue that at least one of the local magistrates should be an attorney, although this is not a legal requirement under present law.

F. Allan Weatherholt, the other local magistrate, is a newspaperman and not an attorney, so the appointment probably will go to some local Democratic attorney if one is interested. There are only about a half dozen Democratic attorneys who can qualify with the city residence requirements.

Fatkin Not Interested

Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin has been prominently mentioned as a successor to Magistrate Carpenti, but he cannot meet the residential requirement as he is a resident of Westernport. Further, he said yesterday he is not interested and prefers to remain as magistrate of juvenile court.

Magistrate Weatherholt, queried about the vacancy, said, "Judge Carpenti talked with me about this development several weeks ago. The new appointment is a splendid opportunity for him and is a very high compliment to his excellent legal ability. He and I have been very good friends for many years. In fact, we graduated from old Allegany County High School in the same class. Since I am a layman in this position, I have leaned very hard on his legal training and since I am fully aware of my own limitations in this field, I sincerely hope the State Central Committee will recommend an attorney of equal ability to succeed Judge Carpenti."

Magistrate Weatherholt said that Substitute Magistrate Harold A. Naughton can fill the vacancy until a permanent replacement is designated.

Girl Scouts Employ New Field Worker

The Cumberland Girl Scout Council recently added a new worker to its professional staff. Mrs. Ruby Gene Adams, a former volunteer trainer for the council, joined the staff on December 1 as a field worker.

This is the first field worker the council has employed and was necessitated by the increase in both girl and adult membership, and by the territory added during the past few years.

Mrs. Adams will give professional assistance to Districts II and III, which include five neighborhoods — Northeast Cumberland - Flintstone, LaVale, and Frostburg neighborhoods in District II; and South Cumberland-Wiley Ford and Romney in District III. She will also work with the training program, and troop organization committees of the council, will give training to scout adults and act as advisor to the senior planning board.

Miss Olive Hurlburt, executive director, will continue to work with District I including the West Side in Cumberland - Bowling Green, Keyser, Cresaptown-Rawlings-Danville neighborhoods and the other council committees.

Mrs. Adams enters the professional field of scouting after many years as a volunteer in the organization, having served as a leader, day camp counselor, and trainer. In other work with adults, she has been a leader of parent-child study classes for the Allegany County Board of Education for the past five years; assisted in arts and crafts classes under the adult education program in Indiana, Pa., taught foods and nutrition under the direction of the Red Cross, and has been active in PTA, working with the organization and presentation of programs. In addition to her Girl Scout camping, she has done general camping at a TB camp. Mrs. Adams has been a substitute teacher at Cresaptown elementary and junior high schools. She is a graduate of Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers' College.

Tree Lighting Ceremony Area To Be Roped Off

Refreshments Set For Participants

Washington Street facing old Fort Cumberland will be blocked off tomorrow night for the annual Community Tree Lighting ceremony.

The program which will mark the beginning of the city's Yuletide will be held tomorrow at 9:15 p. m. from a platform erected beside First Presbyterian Church.

The committee planning the event has asked that the block be roped off so traffic will not interfere with the program.

It will open with a Christmas Overture by the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band and the theme will be stressed in the invocation by Rev. H. Maunell Richardson, rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, on whose grounds the Christmas tree, Creche and other decorations have been placed.

Street Commissioner John J. Long will be master of ceremonies.

Plan Group Singing

A Christmas selection by the Municipal Band will precede the lighting, by Mayor J. Edwin Keech, of the community tree.

Community singing of four familiar Christmas carols will be led by the Cumberland Choral Society. The carols will include "O Come All Ye Faithful" and "Silent Night."

The City Recreation Department, which planned the program, announced that all church selections will be chorally singing, with the choir leading.

Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's Catholic Church, will pronounce the benediction.

Plan Refreshments

The Cumberland Recreation Department is inviting all participants to the Girl Scout House, Greene Street, for refreshments immediately following the ceremony.

Troop 12, Senior Girl Scouts, sponsored by the Junior Woman's Civic Club and led by Mrs. Robert Moyer, will assist the Recreation Department in serving coffee, hot chocolate and cookies.

Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, Park Board member, has been in charge of the Christmas decorations and most of the work has been done by Street Department crews.

The temple was dedicated and the festival of Hannuka was set aside to commemorate the victory for religious liberty and the miracle of the light, in which the candelabra lights burned for eight days on a day's supply of olive oil.

City Officials To Air Street Plan Monday

The proposed five-year street improvement program will be the first order of business at a pre-council meeting of the Mayor and Council Monday.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech said the meeting will begin promptly at 9 a. m. and is being called to allow Street Commissioner John J. Long to discuss the program.

The street commissioner yesterday suggested further study of means of financing the plan.

Th commissioner said he felt study was necessary after considering the tenor of statements made at a public meeting Thursday night in the City Hall to sound out opinion on the proposed long-range project.

Commissioner Long said he felt the statements made at the meeting by citizens, and replies to questions by City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, were "excellent" since they disclosed the feeling of taxpayers on the extent of the improvement project.

"The Mayor and Council," he continued, "should investigate the many suggestions made and continue to seek a financial plan for the entire permanent, street improvement program, or a portion of the program. It is desirable to find a plan that will not place a too-severe tax burden upon our citizens."

The commissioner also said he is in favor of a suggestion by Mayor J. Edwin Keech to seek additional opinions of Cumberland citizens by means of mail or post cards.

Mayor Keech yesterday suggested that attempts be made to contact citizens by mail.

Mennonites Interested

Harold W. Ours, Short Gap, said his church is in the business of operating hospitals and has been exploring the possibilities of a hospital in the East.

He said the church would be interested only in operation and nurses' training, but not in the purchase of the institution.

Dr. W. Royce Hodges pointed out that the Mennonite Church operates Brookhaven in Hagerstown and that he "knows of none run better."

The personnel of the committee was suggested by William R. Carscaden, city attorney, who pointed out the crisis was an area, not just a city, problem.

It was his suggestion that the committee make "a terrific study" and report back.

Gets Full Powers

In view of the urgency, civic leaders adopted a suggestion of Mr. Ort that the committee be empowered to act and to operate the hospital until an order or agency takes over.

Judge Walsh said the committee would have to resolve several problems, see what can be done toward acquisition, find out how to pay, and find someone to operate the hospital.

He said he is in full accord with the plans because the area "can't afford to let it close," as the community cannot get along without its facilities.

He also suggested that some member of the committee con-

Hardesty Says FSTC 'Shocked' By Fund Cut

Money Is Lacking For Two New Dorms

R. Bowen Hardesty, president of Frostburg State Teachers College, said last night that reduced appropriations for the college for next year proposed by Gov. Tawes comes as a shock to the college administration and the 401 students now living under crowded conditions.

The State Department of Education had recommended that a total of $1,131,500 be allotted for capital improvements at Frostburg State Teachers College, but the governor recommended that only $175,000 be expended for FSTC for the next fiscal year.

Mr. Hardesty said the action by the governor approving funds (which did not include $850,000 for a men's residence hall and a women's residence hall) was "shocking" to the college's administration and the 401 students now living in three dormitories which have a normal capacity of 268 students.

College Overcrowded

The college president said 67 additional students from distant towns are now residing in private residences in Frostburg. This is the maximum number of rooms available, and this was achieved after an appeal to the public over a period of time, Mr. Hardesty said.

Already 130 applications with checks covering reservations for September 1960 have been received at the college. In previous years it has been as late as March before such a large number of applications has been received, Mr. Hardesty said.

Mr. Hardesty added that the State Department of Education has realized the overcrowded conditions and the emergency at FSTC, and already has purchased 13 lots on Park Avenue which will provide sites for the two residence halls.

Dining Hall Will Help

The college president said the overcrowded conditions of preparing food and feeding 844 college students in a dining hall originally equipped to handle 200 students will be alleviated in September when Gunter Hall (dining hall) is expected to be completed.

The freshmen enrollment is expected to be 350 next fall with a total college enrollment of 1,000 if it were possible to house all who qualify for admission in September, Mr. Hardesty explained.

He said the construction of the two residence halls requested therefore would merely take care of a backlog of residence hall construction and alleviate the overcrowded conditions now existing.

Will Go To Baltimore

Mr. Hardesty said he has made plans to go to Baltimore Monday to confer with the State Department of Education concerning the residence hall situation.

The state department had asked that $3,589,000 be spent on five colleges, but Gov. Tawes pared the requested appropriations to $1,193,000.

The governor's proposals for the $175,000 for the Frostburg school would be distributed as follows: $60,000 for the site of the new women's dorm, $60,000 for building a roadway and sidewalks into the new laboratory school (Thomas G. Pullen School), and providing play court and drainage and stage development of the athletic field.

FSTC besides the expenditures for the two new dorms were $20,000 in equipment for the dining hall-student activities building, and $35,000 for remodeling the old lab school.

Baltimore St. Landmark May Be Removed

Owners Planning New Parking Lot

Owners of an 85-year-old Baltimore Street business property confirmed reports last night that they are "seriously contemplating" razing the property to make room for a parking lot to be rented on a monthly basis to local business and professional people.

The property, at 6-8-10 Baltimore Street, has been vacant for most of the past five years and is located on the northerly side of Baltimore Street next to the Western Maryland Railway. It last housed a discount store.

Years ago, the property was purchased by the late Gustave Eisenberg, who operated a dry goods and notion store about the time of the Civil War at the corner of Baltimore and South George streets, now the location of Montgomery Ward Company. Mr. Eisenberg was noted in his day for the type of store he operated and for the fact that he specialized in manufacturing hoops and hoop skirts.

Club To Remain

The property has been handed down to the heirs and is now in the fourth generation of ownership. Principal owner is L. E. Eisenberg, 823 Windsor Road. Mr. Eisenberg last night confirmed reports that inquiry has been made into the cost of razing the structure. He said there are two properties on the tract, one in the rear being used as a club. He said this building will not, at least for the present, be removed. There is space on the Baltimore Street section for 12 to 15 cars.

The building has been a Baltimore Street landmark for many years and was once called the Old Hotel property because a man by the name of Dice Bosley operated a restaurant, saloon and rented sleeping rooms to railroaders and trainmen who

Someone has been participating in the not-so-delightful old Christmas custom of stealing lights from city - erected Christmas trees.

That is the report from the City Park Board, which said members of the Auxiliary Guard will be assigned to guard the decorations.

Officials said 27 bulbs were taken from the huge tree at Emmanuel Episcopal Church Thursday night.

Authorities found matches lying on the floor of the creche Tuesday night and said there were indications someone had tried to set fire to the replica of the First Christmas.

A Park Board spokesman said strict punishment will be meted out to vandals.

Church Notices For Christmas Due Monday

Notices of special Christmas services intended for publication in the Times-News Christmas church page must be delivered to the newspaper office by 11 p. m. Monday, December 21.

The deadline for notices of services of Sunday, December 27, also will be 11 p. m. Monday, December 21.

To avoid confusion, Christmas notices should be clearly marked.

P. J. Carpentieri To Resign As Magistrate

Will Accept State Legal Position

Peter J. Carpentieri, magistrate in the local Trial Magistrate Court, is planning to resign from this position about January 1 to accept an appointment in the legal department of the State Roads Commission as a special assistant to the attorney general.

Magistrate Carpentieri is serving his second appointment as a trial magistrate here. He served some years ago under a previous Democratic administration. He is a local attorney and will continue his own practice of law here in addition to the new duties of the state office.

His resignation from trial magistrate court will create a vacancy there, and the Democratic State Central Committee will meet soon to recommend a replacement to Gov. J. Millard Tawes.

Residence Requirement

Since the two local trial magistrates are also designated to serve as city police magistrates, it is necessary that they be residents of the city of Cumberland.

The Democrats therefore will probably be required to recommend an appointee who resides within the city.

Party leaders argue that at least one of the local magistrates should be an attorney, although this is not a legal requirement under present law.

F. Allan Weatherholt, the other local magistrate, is a newspaperman and not an attorney, so the appointment probably will go to some local Democratic attorney if one is interested. There are only about a half dozen Democratic attorneys who can qualify with the city residence requirements.

Fatkin Not Interested

Juvenile Court Magistrate Louis A. Fatkin has been prominently mentioned as a successor to Magistrate Carpentieri, but he cannot meet the residential requirement as he is a resident of Westernport. Further, he said yesterday he is not interested and prefers to remain as magistrate of juvenile court.

Magistrate Weatherholt, queried about the vacancy, said, "Judge Carpentieri talked with me about this development several weeks ago. The new appointment is a splendid opportunity for him and is a very high compliment to his excellent legal ability. He and I have been very good friends for many years. In fact, we graduated from old Allegany County High School in the same class. Since I am a layman in this position, I have leaned very hard on his legal training and since I am fully aware of my own limitations in this field, I sincerely hope the State Central Committee will recommend an attorney of equal ability to succeed Judge Carpentieri."

Magistrate Weatherholt said that Substitute Magistrate Harold A. Naughton can fill the vacancy until a permanent replacement is designated.

Girl Scouts Employ New Field Worker

The Cumberland Girl Scout Council recently added a new worker to its professional staff, Mrs. Ruby Gene Adams, a former volunteer trainer for the council, joined the staff on December 1 as a field worker.

This is the first field worker the council has employed and was necessitated by the increase in both girl and adult membership, and by the territory added during the past few years.

Mrs. Adams will give professional assistance to Districts II and III, which include five neighborhoods - Northeast Cumberland - Flintstone, LaVale, and Frostburg neighborhoods in District II; and South Cumberland-Wiley Ford and Romney in District III. She will also work with the training program, and troop organization committees of the council, will give training to scout adults and act as advisor to the senior planning board. Miss Olive Hurlbut, executive director, will continue to work with District I including the West Side in Cumberland - Bowling Green, Keyser, Cresaptown-Rawlings-Danville neighborhoods and the other council committees.

Mrs. Adams enters the professional field of scouting after many years as a volunteer in the organization, having served as a leader, day camp counselor, and trainer. In other work with adults, she has been a leader of parent-child study classes for the Allegany County Board of Education for the past five years; assisted in arts and crafts classes under the adult education program in Indiana, Pa., taught foods and nutrition under the direction of the Red Cross, and has been active in PTA, working with the organization and presentation of programs. In addition to her Girl Scout camping, she has done general camping at a TB camp. Mrs. Adams has been a substitute teacher at Cresaptown elementary and junior high schools. She is a graduate of Indiana (Pa.) State Teachers' College.
